

Open Broad Probe Into Threat From Nuclear Fallouts

Expert Sees Increase in Bone Cancer

Washington —(AP)—The radiation-charged debris from nuclear weapons tests conducted so far might cause 3,500 to 7,000 additional bone cancer cases in 70 years, congress was told today.

That testimony, from Dr. Charles L. Dunham, director of the atomic energy commission's division of biology and medicine, opened a broad inquiry by an atomic energy radiation subcommittee into the reportedly rising threat from radioactive fallout.

But the scientist quickly qualified his figures. He said they only represented findings under "one current theory" and "of course there may be no additional cases at all."

Fail to Agree
Dunham's perhaps-and-maybe summation was a sample of the big reason for holding the hearings. Scientists disagree among themselves on just how much fallout there is, and on what menace it presents to people now living and their unborn children.

The legislators are trying to find answers to guide congressional policy toward such matters as this nation's own weapons tests, any precautionary measures that may be taken, and the U.S. approach in the negotiations now going on for a pact with the Soviet Union on a halt to testing.

The extent of the disagreement among scientists and others was pointed up by a court action here only yesterday. In that case 39 persons, including Dr. Linus Pauling, Nobel prize winning chemist of the California Institute of Technology, seek a ban on any further U.S. weapons tests. Contending there is no con-

Iran's Ruler Welcomed by British Queen

London —(AP)—The shah of Iran received a glittering welcome today from Queen Elizabeth II and top ministers in her government.

The handsome, 39-year-old shah is here for a 3-day state visit and then a private holiday of two weeks. Public attention will be focused on his continuing search for a new wife and his position as one of the west's few allies in the Middle East.

Crowds massed 10 deep in the bright spring sunshine to watch the young queen, dressed in pale blue, greet the shah at London's Victoria station. Dressed in a dark blue uniform splashed with gold braid, the shah saluted and bowed over the queen's hand.

A troop of honor from the First battalion of Grenadier Guards stood stiffly at attention throughout the ceremony. The two rulers then left for Buckingham palace in a procession or ornate old carriages.

Spurned Red Pact
The British government's welcome was calculated to show that Britain admires the Iranian's refusal to bow to Soviet pressure. His government recently refused to sign a non-aggression pact with Russia and instead joined the United States in a new defense agreement. The Russians retaliated with a steady propaganda barrage.

His visit will include a gala ballet performance at the Covent Garden opera house, an exchange of state dinners at the palace and the Iranian embassy, and a tour of the atomic energy installation at Harwell.

Tells of Payoff To Settle Dispute

Washington —(AP)—Ted Thackrey, former New York City newspaper publisher, swore today he paid an underworld figure $10,000 to settle a 1949 labor dispute with a newspaper deliverers union, and regarded it as a shake-down.

Irving Bitz, the alleged mobster, and Joseph Simons, former president of the union whom Thackrey linked with the payoff, invoked the fifth amendment when asked whether they received the money from the now defunct New York Compass. Both said answers might incriminate them.

Simons, former president of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers union of New York and vicinity, set off a row with the senate rackets payoff with the senate rackets committee by declaring he wanted to call Thackrey "a liar" and the payoff charges "just fantastic."

Ike Asks 'Good Sense' In Steel Wage Talks

President Eisenhower bends close for a word with Sir Winston Churchill in the back seat of the presidential limousine as they leave National Airport in Washington. Sir Winston arrived in the capital in the president's personal plane for a 3-day visit.

Churchill Here to Visit 'Comrades'

Eisenhower Greets Briton At Airport in Washington

Washington —(AP)—A sentimental journey has brought Sir Winston Churchill to Washington once again "to see some of my comrades of wartime days."

Sir Winston, now 84, stepped slowly and carefully from President Eisenhower's personal plane yesterday as 500 persons welcomed him at Washington's National airport.

His voice was clear and vigorous—a reminder of the days when he rallied his countrymen and their allies during the dark days of World war II.

Personal Visit
The Churchill wit was there too, as he remarked: "I always love coming to America, but I shall not say—as most people who are traveling nowadays about the world seem to do—everything I think."

Eisenhower grinned, and the crowd laughed, at this apparent reference to another wartime figure, Lord Montgomery, retired British field marshal, criticized American leadership in a television program just before a recent trip

2 California Boys Found Strangled

San Diego, Calif. —(AP)—Two small boys were strangled, sheriff's officers said today, by their mother's boy friend because he considered them "beyond control."

The little victims, Virgil Lee Brogdon, Jr., 5, and David Wayne Brogdon, 3, of Rockford, Ill., were taken into the mountains on a supposed outing.

Then, the sheriff's account added, they were taken from the car one at a time and strangled by Archie Merriam, 33. The mother was not present.

Merriam and the mother, Mrs. Wanda Brogdon, 33, were arrested today at the home of a sister, Mrs. Margaret Schmitter, in suburban Spring Valley.

Hope to Reach Agreement on New Contract

Negotiators Aim At Accord Without U. S. Intervention

New York —(AP)—Leaders of U.S. Steel corporation and the United Steelworkers union said today after an opening bargaining session they hope to reach a new contract agreement speedily in negotiations without government intervention.

The comment came from R. Conrad Cooper, chief U.S. Steel negotiator, and President David J. McDonald of the union.

President Eisenhower had just hinted at a Washington news conference that the government might have to intervene if the negotiations seemed headed toward creating a new wage-price spiral.

The president urged good sense and wisdom on the part of both the steel industry and the union.

Cooper and McDonald pledged in comments to newsmen to follow these principles in their talks.

Other Firms Affected

Negotiations got under way here with Bethlehem, Republic and Kaiser Steel companies as well as with U.S. Steel, the industry's top producer.

Eight other sets of negotiations with other steel firms begin here tomorrow and Thursday.

Eventually, the dozen firms will let a 4-man team speak with a similar union group to bargain out the agreement. Present industry pacts expire June 30 with the possibility of an industry wide strike looming on July 1.

Cooper and McDonald indicated strong hope, however, they could reach a strike-avoiding agreement. Cooper said after the opening two-hour U. S. Steel bargaining session "we've had a sober, serious, friendly commencement. Both sides recognize the importance of the problem and the necessity of arriving at sound and honorable conclusions."

Asked about Eisenhower's news conference comments, Cooper said:

"I'm sure we would very much like to do our job ourselves. It's our responsibility. We'd like to discharge it."

McDonald said he agreed with that.

Both sides exchanged statements of their respective economic arguments—the union claiming it is entitled to a substantial wage increase and other concessions and the industry maintaining that any new wage costs would spur inflation.

Live Animal to be Sent Into Space

Miami Beach, Fla. —(AP)—The United States will fire a live animal, probably an ape, into space within the next 60 days, says the chief of the army's space program.

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commander of the army ordnance missile command, did not say yesterday what type of animal would ride in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile, but he indicated the best guess would be a monkey.

He told of the coming venture at a press conference. The launching will be another step in the program aimed to put a man in space. An effort will be made to recover the nose cone after it plunges earthward through the atmosphere and determine how the ape fared.

Ike Gives Strauss Strong Support For Cabinet Job

Washington —(AP)—President Eisenhower said today that a low point will be reached if personal antagonisms defeat the nomination of Lewis Strauss as secretary of commerce.

Eisenhower told his news conference that he regards Strauss, former chairman of the atomic energy commission, as a valuable public servant of the utmost integrity.

Strauss' appointment has been under attack by some Democratic senators. Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), yesterday accused Strauss of using "unqualified falsehoods" in defending his actions as head of the AEC.

Hints at Possibility of U. S. Action; Puts Summit Parley Up to Ministers

Washington —(AP)—President Eisenhower today called on steel contract negotiators to show good sense and statesmanship lest they set off another inflationary surge. He said the American people couldn't stand idly by and let themselves get hurt.

This suggestion that a new wage-price spiral could force government intervention came at a news conference at which Eisenhower also said:

1. A summit conference will be a foregone conclusion if the foreign ministers conference beginning next week opens the way to easing east-west tensions.

2. He regards Lewis Strauss as a valuable public servant of the utmost integrity, and feels a low point will be reached if personal antagonisms by senators defeat Strauss' nomination to be secretary of commerce.

Price Spiral Issue
In speaking of a possible summit conference, Eisenhower said once again that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is the only man who can deal authoritatively for Russia.

Eisenhower was asked how much progress there would have to be at the Geneva foreign ministers conference beginning Monday to justify a later meeting at the summit.

The president replied that he wasn't in a position to give a specific reply, but does hope for some progress at Geneva.

Any development there which gives enlarged hope for decreasing east-west tensions would mean, Eisenhower said, that a later summit session was a foregone conclusion.

The conference brought these comments from Eisenhower on other matters: Eisenhower said anew that

Premier Quits Jordan Post

Amman, Jordan —(AP)—Premier Samir Rifal, a Palestinian Arab strong man, resigned today on grounds of ill health.

A palace source said King Hussein accepted the resignation and entrusted Royal Court minister Hazza Majali, a former premier, with the task of forming a new government.

Rifal has held the premiership four times in the last 13 years. His latest government was formed May 18, 1958. He was in charge during the summer crisis in the Middle East when British troops were dispatched to Jordan and U.S. forces to Lebanon.

The British trained executive has also served as foreign minister, defense minister and deputy premier of this desert kingdom.

Pair, 4 Children Drown in Illinois

Heyworth, Ill. —(AP)—An after-school boat outing on a flooded gravel pit turned to tragedy yesterday when the craft capsized and a Heyworth couple and four of their young children drowned.

A fisherman who heard screams for help and saw the thrashing victims dived into the waters and rescued a fifth child. He thought he had saved another, but she was dead when he reached shore.

The victims were Lawrence Bradley, 35, a factory worker; his wife, Betty, 33, and four of their children, Laura Jean, 3, Deborah, 7, Danny, 4, and Florence, 2.

Skin divers and firemen recovered all the bodies but that of Florence. Fire pump trucks from surrounding communities began draining the 5-acre pit in the search for the little girl's body.

Body of Lynching Victim Taken Out of River in Mississippi

Bogalusa, La. —(AP)—Discovery of the body of Mack Charles Parker, of Poplarville, Miss., lynching victim, spurred the FBI to fresh efforts today to find his kidnappers.

The Negro's body offered few clues to bolster the search after an FBI agent and a Mississippi highway patrolman dragged it from the receding waters of the Pearl river near Bogalusa yesterday.

Identity Confirmed
It did pin down fate of the 23-year-old Lumberton truck driver who had been charged with the rape of a pregnant white woman. Since his abduction April 23, his violent death had been supposition and speculation.

The FBI in Washington confirmed identity of the body, J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director, had ordered a special hunt for Parker and his kidnappers.

The mob apparently felt secure behind masks and gloves broke into the Poplar-ville jail, about 20 miles from here, shortly after midnight April 25, savagely beat the 23-year-old Parker, dragged him screaming down the steps from his third story cell and threw him into a waiting car.

His fellow prisoners said he yelled he was innocent as the men took him from the jail.

Searched River
Warrants charging the mob with kidnaping already were on file, but Pearl River county, Miss., officials said last night new charges had been filed against the men.

Officers had believed from the first that Parker's body probably would be found in the Pearl river or one of the streams in the area.

Special FBI Agent Ralph Bachman and Mississippi Highway Patrol Chief Bill Hood had directed the search.

FBI agents, called into the case the first day, questioned people in the Bogalusa area the first days after the abduction. What they found out was never revealed.

An Advertising First for the Post-Crescent

Today's Post-Crescent has something new in the field of advertising. Each paper includes a special FRESH waxed paper insert.

The inserts were preprinted at the manufacturing point with a sales message, then the wax coating was applied.

The rolls were cut to fit the Post-Crescent's presses, mounted and webbed through the giant machine in the same manner as newsprint.

This is advertising with a new twist. The company's sales message presented on a sample of the product. Another example of how your newspaper serves you.

Robert Squires, 17, Grand Rapids, and Jay M. Holloway, 18, Muskegon, were in custody of police at Sauk Sho. Marie, Mich., after they staged a 3-day rampage of robbery, terror and kidnaping in northern Michigan. Police Detective Keith Ewing, background, said the two admitted the crimes.

Formal Talks Open Today On Steel Industry Contracts

Results Will Affect Entire U.S. Economy

New York —(U)— Formal negotiations open today for a steel industry labor contract that could have a powerful influence on the nation's economy.

After waging a verbal duel for months, representatives of steel management and the workers' union finally have a chance to do some real negotiating in the biggest labor-management bout of 1959.

The outcome will have its effect on wages, prices nationally and provide the answer to whether there will be a steel strike June 30 when present contracts expire.

The formal talks open first thing tomorrow with U.S. Steel Corporation, the industry's largest producer, and later in the day with Bethlehem, Republic and Kaiser steel. The union starts negotiating with the other top industry firms tomorrow and Thursday.

Within a few days a docket of negotiations, all separate firms, will be under way, all in the Roosevelt hotel here. Altogether there will be about 500 union negotiators and nearly as many management representatives engaged in the talks.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, is pushing for higher wages, shorter work hours and more liberal benefits as well as other gains.

He has pledged the 500,000 workers in basic steel, all among the best paid in the nation averaging $3.03 per hour, will emerge with their contract in history. McDonald says steel profits war workers gains without increase in any steel price increase.

The industry, on the other hand, is resisting any such changes, arguing that increased labor costs would cause steel price increases thereby spur inflation.

Khrushchev Makes Site of U.S. Show

Moscow —(U)— Nikita Khrushchev paid a 5-minute visit yesterday to construction site at the site of this summer American exposition announced to like what he saw.

During his visit, Khrushchev, the Soviet premier, was particularly taken by a model of a 1,100 aluminum pan-which, resting on steel girders, will house film exhibition of American life.

This aluminum dome is something, he said, "very interesting." The Soviet government is to be building for $350,000 for the exposition, which will open July 25.

The exhibition site is in a park, once a favorite hunting area for the czars.

Chief Orders Shaves Guerrilla Police

Havana, —(U)— At least 10 of Fidel Castro's long-haired, bearded revolutionaries are going to get shaves.

They are members of the national police force.

Chief Efigenio Ameijeiras issued them an order for shaves and hair trims and uniformity was his goal.

He explained that policemen didn't serve with Castro's guerrilla forces are clean shaven.

Castro and most of his followers still wear the beards cultivated in their fight days in the mountains of Cuba.

Dr. Hildebrand Sees Threat to Medical Control

Milwaukee —(U)— Dr. W. B. Hildebrand, Menasha president of the Wisconsin State Medical society, said Monday night numerous groups are trying to control the practice of medicine.

Hildebrand said labor, industry, government, insurance companies and hospitals are making a concerted effort to destroy the patient-doctor relationship.

"I believe that the unlimited choice of physician and the free selection of patients without the interposition of a third party forms the only possible basis for acceptable medical care," he told a meeting of the society's House of Delegates.

Hildebrand said the lay groups will "combine in their efforts to control all health activities." He recommended that the society undertake a "long range defensive and offensive program to preserve private practice."

Hydrogen Halo Rings Earth at Altitudes Up to 20,000 Miles

Scientist Points to Weak Spot in Magnetic Field; Warns of Danger

Washington —(U)— The earth is surrounded by a harmless halo of hydrogen at altitudes between 80 and 20,000 miles, a California scientist reported today.

At the same time, another researcher said a known weak spot in the earth's magnetic field may account for the gap between two dangerous doughnuts of radiation discovered in space.

Separate Phenomena
These separate phenomena were described to the annual meeting of the American geophysical union in separate reports prepared by scientists of the Lockheed missiles and space division, Sunnyvale, California.

Dr. Francis A. Johnson told of the hydrogen halo, which he described as a glowing veil.

He said it's a cloud of hydrogen gas made up of electrically neutral atoms of the chemical. Its existence became known from radiation detectors aboard satellites and missiles.

At first it was believed to be something coming from far out in interplanetary space, Johnson said, but new research shows that it's actually a part of the earth's outer atmosphere.

Though it has a certain glow, he related, it can not be detected from the earth's surface because the radiation is absorbed in the earth's atmosphere at an altitude of about 50 miles.

Two Belts
It was Dr. Alexander J. Dessler of Lockheed who offered the new theory to explain the gap between the two belts of radiation which encircle the earth. They are considered potentially hazardous to space travel.

These two belts — named for Dr. James Van Allen of the state university of Iowa — hang suspended like monster doughnuts around the earth. But with opening above both the North and South Polar regions.

The first belt begins at about 1,300 miles altitude and extends to about 3,000.

Then there's a 5,000 mile gap before the second belt begins at about 8,000 miles.

Archibald MacLeish Wins His Third Pulitzer; Mauldin Receives Second

Robert L. Taylor's Novel of Small Boy Winner of Literature Award

BY HARRY SCHWEID
New York —(U)— "J.B." a verse play which retells the Book of Job in a modern setting, has brought Archibald MacLeish his third Pulitzer prize, the 1959 award for drama.

MacLeish is the eighth American to win at least three Pulitzer prizes. His two previous awards, in 1933 and 1953, were for poetry.

The 1959 selections, announced yesterday by Grayson Kirk, president of Columbia university, also put William H. (Bill) Mauldin of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch in select company. His select prize for cartooning places Mauldin among the 34 individuals who have won more than one Pulitzer prize.

His prize-winning cartoon was published after the Soviet Union forced Boris Pasternak to give up the Nobel prize in literature. The cartoon's title was: "I won the Nobel prize for literature. What was your crime?"

A campaign against vice, gambling and corruption in Utica, N.Y., that achieved sweeping reforms won the 1959 Pulitzer prize medal for meritorious public service for the Utica Observer-Dispatch and the Utica Daily Press, members of the Gannett group of newspapers.

"The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters," the adventures of a boy and his father during a wagon-train trek to California in the 1849 gold rush, was named the best American novel of 1958. Its author, Robert Lewis Taylor, 36, of Sharon, Conn., has written eight other books and numerous magazine pieces.

Editorial Field
In the field of newspaper editorials, the prize went to Ralph McGill, 61, editor of the Atlanta Constitution who is celebrating his thirtieth year with the paper. McGill was cited for his work through the year as exemplified by an editorial calling the bombing of a synagogue in Atlanta and a high school in Clinton, Tenn., the work of "rabid, mad dog minds."

Other prizes in journalism included: International reporting—Joseph Martin, 45, and Philip Santora, 47, of the New York Daily News, both of whom started out as copy boys, for their series detailing brutalities that forecast the downfall of the Batista government in Cuba.

National reporting—Howard Van Smith, 48, of the Miami Fla. News for a series of articles that forced a cleanup of a Florida migrant labor camp.

Local reporting on education—Mary Lou Werner, 32, assistant state editor of the Washington Star, for coverage of the school integration crisis in Virginia.

Local reporting under non-deadline conditions — John Harold Brislin, 47, of the Scranton, Pa., Tribune and the Sunday Scrantonian, for "displaying courage, initiative and resourcefulness in his effective 4-year campaign to halt labor violence in his home city."

News Photography
News photography—William Seaman, 34, of the Minneapolis Star, for a picture of a traffic death. It shows a small child's blanket-shrouded body at a city street corner, an

Believe River Will Give Up Martin Family

Portland, Ore. —(U)— Oregon and Washington law officers were watching the Columbia river today for the bodies of the rest of the Ken Martin family of Portland.

The remains of two children, Susan, 10, and her sister, Virginia, 12, already have been given up by the river. Still missing are Ken Martin, 54, his wife, 48, and another daughter, Barbara, 14.

The Martins vanished Dec. 7 while on an automobile trip up the Columbia river for Christmas greens. No trace was found of them until Susan's body was picked up Sunday near the town of Camas, Wash., a few miles upstream from here. Yesterday the body of Virginia was found floating against the spillway gates above Bonneville dam—40 miles upriver from Portland.

This led police to believe that the Martin car plunged off a highway into the river or one of its tributaries further upstream. The tributaries are rising now from the annual spring snow runoff and the increased current could have dislodged the car on the river's bottom and freed the bodies.

An examination of Susan's body showed she had drowned and that there had been no foul play. The condition of the body indicated it had been in deep cold water for a considerable time.

Others in the latter category included: History—"The Republican Era: 1869-1901" by Leonard D. White, with the assistance of Jean Schneider.

Biography—"Woodrow Wilson, American Prophet," by Arthur Walworth, 56-year-old bachelor resident of Newton Centre, Mass.

Poetry—"Selected Poems, 1928-1958," by Stanley Kunitz, 54, who teaches at the New School in New York City.

Music—John La Montaine, 39, for his "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra." A navy veteran and a bachelor, he lives in New York City.

The history prize will be divided between the estate of White, who died in February, 1953, and Miss Schneider, his research assistant who worked with White at the University of Chicago.

Kamps Hears Of Efforts to Find Brother

partment officials to talk to Kamps about the situation.

The state department officials, Asst. Sec. of State William C. Macomber, and Richard M. Service, acting chief of eastern European affairs and a Russian expert, explained why the state department took five months to release the tape recording of conversation of Russian pilots at the time the American air transport was shot down.

Mikoyan Visit

After the accuracy of the tape was established, a transcript was forwarded to the Russian embassy here. Its release to the public was then delayed, pending the visit of Russian Foreign Minister Mikoyan to Washington. During that time, state department officials and Vice President Nixon all talked to Mikoyan regarding the situation.

It was hoped by our state department people that Moscow might make some reply to American notes, if given the time to digest the fact that we had verified conversations of Russian flyers. However, no explanation has been forthcoming from either the Russian embassy or Moscow.

"We have not closed the case," Macomber said. "As a matter of fact, we are still working on it at the highest level possible."

Kamps himself commented that after talking with the congressmen and the state department officials, he understood better why it took so long to learn of the incident and why it was taking so long to get any further information out of the Russians.

Blames Reds

"You can see why I couldn't understand why we couldn't get any more information on my brother when you realize that I didn't even know I could come to Washington and have an appointment with my congressman," Kamps said.

He indicated that now he places the blame on the lack of information directly in the laps of the Soviet who have not answered persistent notes from our own secretary of state.

Laird said that he would urge our representatives to try to talk about the missing airmen at the meeting of foreign ministers in Geneva on May 12, even though the talks might be on an "informal, or unofficial basis."

The congressman, who will be a delegate to the World Health organization in Geneva later this month, will attend the foreign ministers' conference as an unofficial observer, will not take any active part in the conference.

Kamps renewed interest in the fate of the downed airmen by writing letters to all mem-er's invitation to Truman to attend a White House stag dinner tomorrow for Sir Winston Churchill, and Truman's reply that he had another engagement.

Eisenhower declined to discuss this specific invitation to Truman. He said the reporter who brought up the matter was getting into a personal field.

The president said he hopes the 1960 Republican presidential nominee will win even more votes in southern states than he did in 1952 and 1956.

Stresses Foreign Aid

He had been asked whether he thought Vice President Nixon or New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller could do as well as Eisenhower did in the south.

The president touched off a round of laughter by asking the reporter whether he had any candidates other than Nixon and Rockefeller. There are other possible GOP candidates, Eisenhower said.

The president plugged anew for the administration's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program. He brought up that subject himself, and noted that hearings on the program are getting under way before congressional committees.

The program, he said, is deserving of real support by everyone who is concerned with national security. It is not a partisan program, he added, but is based rather on need, logic and good sense.

Would Ease Tensions

Approval of the program, Eisenhower went on, would contribute to the free world battle to lessen international tensions, and would mean bers of congress and to the president and state department.

tutional authority for the tests, and that they are a grave menace to both present and future generations, they applied to the U.S. court of appeals to reverse an earlier district court ruling against them.

Report Challenged

The contention of the group who went to court challenges the findings in a 3-year-old report by the National Academy of Sciences on the extent of the threat.

That 1956 report, result of a year-long study, conceded that radiation from any source is "often harmful" to humans but said as of that time the hazard from nuclear blasts presented a smaller genetic hazard than medical uses of X-ray. It said there was no threat to the present generation.

Whatever current threat exists is said by scientists to lie mainly in fallout of strontium 90 which in sufficient quantities is held to bring on bone cancer and leukemia.

The future threat lies in genetic effects of radiation, mainly that reaching the sex organs. It is generally accepted that sufficient dosages bring on mutations that may increase the number of defective children.

Chinese Reds Halt Silence at Quemoy

Taipei, Formosa —(P)— The Chinese communists fired five shells at the Quemoy islands today, breaking a week's lull in the offshore island artillery war.

A nationalist communique made no mention of casualties or return fire. The communists for months have said they would fire at the Quemoy only on odd-numbered days of the month, but occasionally they let several such days go by without shooting.

nights, spend another night at the British embassy, and go to New York for several days before returning to England.

British embassy officials said Sir Winston's remarks at the airport are the only public statements he plans to make during the visit. He has turned down numerous requests for speeches and news conferences.

Eisenhower greeted Churchill as "my dear friend of wartime days" and, recalling that Sir Winston's mother was an American, said "we claim at least the maternal side of him."

Churchill agreed that the United States is "my mother's country, as I always figure it and feel it."

A White House bubbletopped limousine carried the president and his guest to the White House for a quiet visit which started with a family dinner last night.

Eisenhower has arranged stag dinner tonight and Wednesday night, and the British embassy, in turn, will entertain at a similar dinner Thursday.

Tuesday, May 5, 1959 Appleton Post-Crescent A4

Sir Winston will spend a weekend in New York visiting another longtime friend, financier Bernard Baruch, before flying back to England. He commented yesterday that he enjoyed his first jet-plane flight—across the Atlantic to New York, where he boarded Eisenhower's personal plane, the Columbine III, for the journey to Washington.

BY IMPERIAL DECREE...decisive differences

Whichever of the fine cars you now drive . . . whatever the reasons for its purchase . . . you should know some of the decisive differences that are turning fine car buyers, in increasing numbers, to Imperial.

Example: The riding quality of Torsion-Aire . . . a suspension as yet unequalled by soft coils or complex air systems. No Imperial owner would give it up.

Example: A precisely honed sense of handling and maneuver no other car has quite been able to achieve. Other fine cars often feel sluggish to Imperial owners.

Example: Broader, higher doors; longer room for legs; higher space above heads. Swivel seats for dignified entry and exit. Imperial owners feel a little cramped in other fine cars.

Example: A totally new kind of engine that gives Imperial more wheel-turning force, more liveliness per pound than any other engine in the fine car world. Example: Auto-Pilot which tends the accelerator automatically on long trips . . . an option many Imperial owners consider a necessity.

These are not available on any other fine car. They are important differences . . . the kind you can test and evaluate. Do so. See your Imperial dealer. Drive the Imperial he has for you. Compare it in any way with its rival cars. You'll understand why Imperial is the sales success of the year.

Lawrence Says:
Herter Shows

Press Dealings
'No' Answers Should Be Used in Politics Internationally

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Paris — Sec. of State Christian Herter handled himself with the press here in a manner that would have done credit to any veteran in public life.
Every one of the newsmen present wondered before hand how Herter would conduct himself under the penetrating ordeal of questions that are usually flung at a secretary.

The new secretary seemed ahead of the game all along.
He didn't hesitate once for an answer. He said "no" pleasantly and with an engaging smile. He explained persuasively his reasons for not answering a question and stuck to his position. He would be better off at some of his press conferences if he adopted the same technique. For, while the newsmen have a right to know, there is no good reason why the interests of the American government should be subordinated to the curiosity of the press, without regard to the damage that might be done.

Certainly nothing should be kept secret which the people are entitled to know. That includes almost everything imaginable. But there is nothing in the rule book that says the information must always be available in time for the

City Issues Builder
Permit for $35,000,
10-Room Residence
Richard Seidler, Appleton builder, Friday was given a permit by Building Inspector Walter Bogan to construct an estimated $35,000 frame and brick home at 1755 N. Racine street.
The house will have 10 rooms and three baths. There will be a separate garage.
Other permits went to:
Walter Kottke, who will remodel the Wal-Dan Trading company building at 1322 E.
Wisconsin avenue for about $2,500.
Utischig dairy, which will have a 500-gallon gas tank installed underground at 2003 N.
Meade street for about $112.
A&M Realty, which will remodel the inside of the building at 1119 E. Wisconsin avenue for about $150.

Wants to Enter Street
Oscar J. Boldt Construction Company, Inc., has asked the city council for permission to construct an electrical service duct in College avenue between the new music-drama center and Lawrence college's Main hall. City Clerk Broehm said the request would be forwarded to the street and sanitation committee.

next edition of the American press.
It's the timing, therefore, on which discretion should and can be used.
Herter wisely refrained from discussing the details of the so-called package plan to be presented next week in Geneva, but this doesn't mean it will not be revealed at that time. Obviously there are good reasons for not publicizing the Allied position in advance of the actual negotiations. To do so means that the opposing politicians in every country would have a chance to belittle or ridicule the proposals. It also gives our adversaries a chance to read about them and pile up obstacles which could imperil the Geneva negotiations.
Domestic politics may make its demands for the fullest publicity, but international negotiations ought to be respected as a higher consideration for which allowance should be made by both the press and the politicians.

Performance Encouraging Herter's performance before the correspondents was encouraging. He expressed the American position and discreetly refrained from saying anything that could in the slightest degree prejudice the position of the other foreign ministers who had sat with him in the conferences here.

The correspondents tried to find out if there were differences between the American point of view and that of the Allies and whether the positions to be taken at Geneva were firm or were merely the basis for fall back proposals later on. Herter handled all such questions with the utmost skill, and yet the newsmen felt they had not been dealt any false cards.

The total impression which Herter gave was one of absolute sincerity and seriousness. He handled with proper diplomatic reserve even the questions related to Soviet intentions.

Gives Preview
This first glimpse of Her-ter in action at an international conference was important not so much for the authoritative outline that he was able to give of what the Western foreign ministers meeting here was about but because it revealed a new secretary capable of carrying on the traditions of his predecessors.
For the more the American position in international affairs is studied, the more it becomes apparent that the United States stands dedicated to its ideals and will not forsake any of its Allies in the pursuit of the goals of the free world. Herter made a 10-strike here in his first contacts with the press. America can be proud of the man who has taken over the reins from the heroic hands of John Foster Dulles.

If It's Pubs You're Naming, Check Here: Charlie Lists His Favorites

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

American pubkeepers, nice as they are, are noteworthy for many things but not for naming their businesses with verve and imagination.

Our country is laden with taverns named "Gus's," or "Butch and Heien's" or "Tony's," or "Smidt's Place."

This, however, is not the case in jolly old England. One of London's most famed and ancient inns is "The Old Cheshire Cheese" on Fleet street, a title which seems slightly more subtle than "Joe's Bar." It is one of the many pubs on the tight little island which represents aspects of community or country enterprise.

Others of this ilk are named with equal charm, like "The Hayrick," "Ploughboy," "Wheatsheaf," "The Beehive" (which maintains a true, bustling hive in a tree in front).

Sow and Pigs

I agree that there is a splendid possibility that the reader will not endorse my point of view about what constitutes interesting tavern titles, but isn't "The Sow and Pigs" a better monicker than "George's Bar"?

One old tavern in England is named "The Cat and the Custard Pot." Strange as it may seem, I prefer that name to one like "Tony's." Don't you?

In England, many pubkeepers have employed the names of birds. Some of the more famous ones are "Cock and Blackbird," "Swan and Sugarloaf," "The White Blackbird," and "Three Cranes."

Most amusing are the incongruous combinations so often found in the titles of British pubs. Some of them: "The Parrot and Punchbowl," "Bear and Rummer," "Sun and Whalebone," "The Crown and Crooked Billet," "The

and "The Beetle and Wedge" to "Joe's Bar."

In my notes on English pub names are such quaint ones as "The Old Tipping Philosopher," "The Castle of Comfort," "The Staff of Life," "The Plough and Shuttle," "The Jolly Weavers," "The Bank of Friendship," and "The Jovial Collier."

Unwieldy Names

Some English pub names are a trifle unwieldy, but they are fascinating. One example is "Charles the Second's Head" and another is "The Canal, Navigation and Tram."

But I like the name, "The Live and Let Live," and "The Wooden Walls of Old England" and "The Mourning Crown" and "The Bobbing Haycock."

There is a tale about the latter which is said to be true. A country bumpkin had fallen asleep on a haycock when a rising river carried it far downstream. The bumpkin and scraping finally awakened the husbandman who shouted to some people on the river bank. He asked where he was and they replied the place was Wansford.

"What," he asked, "in England?"

Aren't tavern names like "The Running Footman" or "The Bear and Ragged Staff" and "The Case Is Altered" or "La Belle Sauvage" more interesting than "Mike's Bar"?

"La Belle Sauvage" is believed to represent Pocahontas. One tavern called "The Devil and Bag O' Nails" is believed to be an attempt on the part of a friend that I would meet him inside "The Baron's Head," or at "The Trip to Jerusalem," or the "Six Jolly Fellowship Porters" or "The Prospect of Whitty," or "Jack Straw's Castle," or "The Leather Bottle" or "The Roase Crown and Wheat-sheaf" or "The Spread Eagle" or "The Butt and Oyster," or "The Barley Mow."

Meet Me at Tony's?

While I am not necessarily adverse to going into Louie's tavern, or Jake's and Mamie's or any other unimaginatively named pub, I would be happier if I could say to a friend that I would meet him inside "The Baron's Head," or at "The Trip to Jerusalem," or the "Six Jolly Fellowship Porters" or "The Prospect of Whitty," or "Jack Straw's Castle," or "The Leather Bottle" or "The Roase Crown and Wheat-sheaf" or "The Spread Eagle" or "The Butt and Oyster," or "The Barley Mow."

Spiegelberg Reads Papers For Scholars

Dr. Herbert Spiegelberg of the Lawrence college philosophy department recently attended two professional gatherings to present scholarly papers.

During the first weekend in May he was at the University of Wisconsin at the western division of the American Philosophical association, where he read the first paper in a symposium on "Husserl's Phenomenology and Existentialism." It is the 100th birth-year of the great German philosopher Edmund Husserl. Earlier in the season he was invited to a New York meeting of the American Catholic Philosophers' association to read a paper "How Subjective Is Phenomenology?" Dr. Spiegelberg has been writing on the subject of phenomenology for several years, after research done on a Rockefeller grant.

Man Reaps What He Sows, States Pastor

The Rev. Schlueter
Asks Recognition of Earth's Bounty

A man reaps what he sows, the Rev. Franklin E. Schlueter, pastor of Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren church, emphasized in his Sunday sermon.

Speaking on "The Rev. Schlueter, is when one is so greatly blessed with the good things of life that he takes them for granted."

"Again the Bible comes to man's rescue with words of warning. It tells of early man losing his place in the garden of paradise because he did not conduct himself according to the laws governing seedtime and harvest. Instead of using his gifts and opportunities wisely, he forgets that he was but a humble co-worker of God's and that he was not God himself."

Against Grain

"Thus instead of living in Paradise and enjoying the fruits so abundantly provided for him, man found himself going against the grain of the universe, failing to sow proper seed and the harvest reaped was not to his liking," he said.

Citing books like Cronin's "How Green Was My Valley," Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" and Reis' "How the Other Half Lives," the Rev. Schlueter said they bring the Bible lesson up to date.

He told the Bible parable about a farmer who sowed seed that fell on four kinds of soil—a hard path, stony soil, weed-infested soil, and good ground.

"This," he concluded, "was a lesson for all of us, for Jesus was thinking of every one and how receptive or neglectful of life are to the good things of life."

Appleton Retailers
To Elect New Officers
At Wednesday Session

The Appleton Downtown Retail association will elect officers for the year at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at the Conway hotel.

They also will vote on a calendar of promotional events for the year, store openings for the July 4 weekend and Christmas openings next December.

Reports will be submitted by John McComb, of the Appleton Day committee; Fred T. Eustice, of the promotion events committee; and Ralph O. Bohl, of the highway signs committee.

Both the people of the farm and the city recognize God's bountiful provision for the bodily and spiritual needs of man," he declared.

The Rev. Schlueter said that the story of the Bible, which begins in a garden, reveals that man, as God's creation, is placed on earth to enjoy it to the fullest extent.

Gift of Intelligence

"God has made the routine of day and night, light and darkness, the seasons of the year, seedtime and harvest, and many other laws of nature available for man to use along with the God-given gift of cooperative intelligence to bring out the earth's storehouse 'things new and old,'" he said.

The danger, according to the Rev. Schlueter, is when one is so greatly blessed with the good things of life that he takes them for granted.

Enrich Lives

"These are people who are seeking to enrich their own lives and the lives of their neighbors by cooperating with God and nature, with the hope that they feed and nourish their souls, knowing full well that man does not live by bread alone."

"The observance of Rural Life Sunday is a day when

School Days Theme

Dansations '59 Has Variety Show Format

The Appleton Recreation department Saturday presented Dansations-1959, a variety show with a school days theme given by Appleton youngsters registered in the dancing class program of the department.

The program opened with mothers of students in Gibson girl costumes reminiscing about the past and present school days. The first scene depicted the classroom complete with desks and blackboard. The entire scene featured 100 beginning dancers with 14 hours training. Dance numbers included a comic book and roll call routines.

The second scene was the playground set in front of an old-fashioned red brick schoolhouse. Acts featured in this scene were a jump rope tap dance "Jumping Jacks," with Lennie Brasch, Burton Baernwald and Ken Kernen.

Jazz Age

Fifteen high school girls in Charleston outfits did a roaring 20's dance, the "Jazz Age." Hula hoops and cowboys were dance themes and the scene closed with an acrobatic dance "Me and My Shadow" by Sonje and Thyra Johnson.

Snow men which become alive on the stage were featured in the third scene. Christmas vacation. Skating girls danced among snow mounds and around a red sleigh. Diane DeShaney did "Fancy Figures," an acrobatic dance representing an ice skater. Elevation Day.

UWM to Stay On Kenwood Campus

State Commission
Vote Will Halt Controversy

Madison — In a vote that will affect the physical development of tax-supported higher education for the next quarter of a century, the state building commission Monday decided to anchor the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee to the so-called Kenwood campus.

The location of the new branch university created considerable controversy in Milwaukee when it bought a plot of land from neighboring Downer seminary for the expanding Kenwood.

The initiative came from Gov. Gaylord Nelson, who suggested that the Kenwood location would be sufficient to accommodate buildings handling 10,000 or more students. A second campus, he said, can be developed elsewhere in Milwaukee if the future brings the 20,000 student population that some educators predict.

75,200 Enroll

The school now has about 5,200 students. Its creation several years ago recognized the urbanization of Wisconsin population and the demand for more localized opportunities for higher education.

The campus attracted commuting students from Kenosha on the south to Sheboygan on the north.

The state will pay about $1,500,000 for the seminary property. Gov. Nelson's building program, yet to be approved by the legislature, calls for up to $6,000,000 million in buildings on the campus during the next four years. The governor said that one of the reasons he opposed a relocation was that relocation would be more expensive and that "we don't have the money now."

Madison Unhappy

The governor's statements may betray the feeling of some of the Milwaukee campus boosters that the parent school at Madison has not been overly enthusiastic about developing the Milwaukee institution.

Some of the interests at Madison have been openly hostile toward the possibility that the Milwaukee branch may overtake the Madison school in enrollment and functional importance.

16-Inch League Has 4th Backer

Softball Loop for Men Over 35 to Play
Tuesday Evenings

Kaukauna — A fourth sponsor has been found for a 16-inch softball team making it possible to start drawing a schedule for summer play, according to James Gertz, recreational director.

The loop will be known as the Tavern league. Games are to be played on Tuesday evenings. Make-up games will be played on Friday or on nights when one 12-inch game is played. Team sponsors and the managers include Modern bar headed by Charles Hardy, Clune's bar headed by Ed Sanders, Jr., Ranch bar headed by Jack Damro and Joe Gertz' tavern headed by George Hurst.

Rules Set Up

Rules set up by the recreation department state no player from the 12-inch league can compete in the 16-inch loop. Players must work or live here or have a rural Kaukauna address. The first game will start at 7 p. m. with a 18-minute forfeit time. The second game will start immediately after the first with a 18-minute forfeit time.

Games will be seven innings and seven men must be fielded before a game starts. Bunting or wearing of spikes will not be permitted. Batters hit by a pitched ball will not take a base and slow pitching will be enforced. Play will be divided into first and second rounds with a play-off between division champs.

Contract cards must be turned in to the recreation office by May 14. Additional players may be signed after that date but they will be unable to play unless cards are filed two days prior to the next game. Players will be permitted to compete only with teams to which they contracted.

No release from contracts will be permitted during the first half but between first and second round play, with consent of managers, players

Homemaker Clubs Get One Of Ten State Project Awards

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Homemaker clubs were awarded one of the ten project awards issued at a state meeting at Green Bay.

Kaukauna received its award for its auto safety and baby sitting projects. The award, according to Mrs. James I. McFadden, coordinator for the Vocational school sponsored clubs, will be permitted to sign with a different team. No limit on the numbers of players per team will be made.

first is a new project and consisted of distributing booklets telling what to do in event of an auto accident. The baby sitting project is the third successive year in which it has earned an award, according to Mrs. James I. McFadden, coordinator for the Vocational school sponsored clubs. A board of directors stud-

Jingo Doubts Emmy Show Will Entertain

Post Experience, Including Oscar Derbies, Shows Producers to be Somewhat Optimistic

BY JINGO

The producers claim the emphasis on Wednesday night's Emmy Awards show will be on entertainment. That's what they say. Past experience — and this includes the movies' version of the same idea — indicates the statement is somewhat optimistic.

Oh, almost everyone will be entertained by the comedy monologues of Jack Benny and Mike Nichols and Elaine May, but they won't be filling the entire 1 1/2 hours.

The rest of the time, Jingo expects to see a lineup of show business' most talented people boring him stiff.

There's one difference between this season's awards clambake and the 10 previous ones. This one is do-or-die. If this one fails of entertainment, you won't catch Jingo set-side for another one.

Direct Dialing Adds Telephone Customers

International direct distance dialing (DDD) was made available to an additional 130,000 telephones Sunday in Milwaukee. Milwaukee customers now can dial Appleton directly.

Officials at the Wisconsin Telephone company said that there are no plans for the present as far as DDD service for Appleton is concerned.

About two-thirds of the Milwaukee metropolitan exchange phones are on the DDD network, which includes 35 million telephones in 37 states, the District of Columbia and parts of Canada.

Show People Honor Burl Ives at Las Vegas

Performers Salute 'Big Daddy' for Winning Film Oscar

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood — (AP) Las Vegas showfolk put on an unusual tribute to Burl Ives.

Performers from all the shows along the glittering strip gathered at the Silver Slipper in the early morning for a special entertainment. Only show people were present. The object was to salute "Big Daddy" Ives for his Oscar as supporting actor in "The Big Country."

This warm-hearted gesture evidenced the feeling that the entertainers have for Ives. He is one of them, and he made it to the top.

His engagement at the Flamingo hotel was a smasher, and all the acclaim and honors contrasted nicely with his first visit to Las Vegas. That was in 1932 when he was on the bum. He enjoyed recalling that fact as he sang in his tuxedo before the nightly audiences.

In talking to Burl before he departed for other engagements, I thought I detected a yen for his hobo days. "I really don't like to work this hard," he admitted. "I'd much rather be spending my time on the schooner."

The boat is named Tibby Dunbar after a Bobbie Burns poem and it rests at anchor in Annapolis. It's likely to remain without its skipper for some time.

As soon as he finished the Las Vegas date, Burl was to fly to New York to prepare for a TV spectacular. Then he had to leave for Cuba and locations of the Carol Reed film, "Our Man in Havana." He returns to New York to finish up the spec, then heads for London and interiors of "Our Man."

After that, there are a couple of pictures he might do, and possibly a stage play. He does several TV guest shots a tomato, all grilled together? year and if things get dull "I Other items include alfalfa-

Contract for Locks Work to Van Daalwyk

Curb, Gutter Bids Turned Over to Street Committee

Combined Locks—The contract for installation of storm sewer and water laterals for the newly platted area on Park street was awarded to the Van Daalwyk Construction company of Kaukauna by the village board Monday night.

Van Daalwyk's bid was $8,783.25. Work is expected to start in 15 days.

Bids received for street reconstruction work and curb and gutter installation on Lox street were referred to the street committee for study. Man Coffey, Mrs. William President Dan Williams also suggested the committee work out some program for long range street improvements so the village could do some work each year and have it planned in advance.

Street Work—Discussion was held on the sealcoating work needed on village streets. The street committee was advised to check on prices and get an estimate of the amount of work to be done. A recommendation will be made at the next meeting.

Approval was given for the construction of a parking lot at the west end park. The lot will be built at the former site of the tennis courts.

A letter was received from the Outagamie county safety council requesting the village investigate the possibility of installation of a guard rail along the wooden railroad trestle near the state graded school.

The council said several complaints had been received about the trestle. President Williams said he would take the matter up with the county highway department since it is located on County Trunk Z.

The board set the annual liquor and cigarette license meeting for 7 p.m. May 12 at the village hall.

CNW Adopts New Communication Means to Improve Freight Service

Punch Cards Keep Current Information On All Cars, Trains

Kaukauna—A new system of integrated data processing, utilizing the largest commercial communications network of its kind, was unveiled today by the Chicago and North Western Railway company as a new management tool for the improvement of its freight service and for more efficient control of its widespread operations.

The southside station in Kaukauna is one of 68 mechanized offices on the line to be equipped with the new system. This will serve the entire Fox Cities area and other stations at Green Bay and North Fond du Lac.

Called "car-fax", the system is the result of two years of collaborative effort in planning and installation by the North Western, the accounting firm of Arthur Andersen and company, American Telephone and Telegraph, International Business Machines corporation and the Illinois Bell Telephone company. The new system, according to Ben W. Heineman, chairman of the North Western, "promises to revolutionize many traditional practices and eliminate many problems in operating a large railroad."

Basic Purpose—Basic purpose of the system is improved customer service by providing railroad supervision with current information on the thousands of freight cars as well as every train movement as it occurs on main and branch lines, at every freight yard, station and interchange point. Through the use of high speed electronic equipment along the 9,300 miles of track in eight midwestern states, the company keeps a continuous flow of data, on 50,000 freight cars and 300 trains going daily to the data processing center at Chicago. Here information is processed and relayed electronically to various locations. At the same time, data is processed to streamline traffic, accounting, operating and other management functions.

Products of 'Car-Fax'—Important products of the "car-fax" operation, according to company officials, include a fast, complete car information service for shippers with all traffic offices of the railroad throughout the United States daily provided with information on every carload of freight on the system; complete and current information for management on location and type of all empty cars, permitting greater efficiency of car distribution, and advance train lists to all yards, permitting yard personnel to prepare switching and other plans in advance of train arrivals.

Most Efficient—Heineman said "car-fax" is believed to be one of the most efficient systems of integrated processing in use in any industry. "Its impact on the efficiency of the Chicago and North Western represents one of the most significant advances in modern railroad-

ing. Key to the unit is a transmitter, a device which automatically transmits or receives data on punched cards. This equipment is tied together by the largest commercial network of its kind, second only to that in use by the United States Air Force. The North Western system utilizes about 8,000 miles of communication lines.

Complete data on every freight car or train arriving at or departing from one of the 68 field stations is coded on punched cards. Thereafter all operations are mechanical or automatic. The information is transmitted to headquarters in Chicago where identical information is automatically and simultaneously reproduced on similar cards.

Springs Golf Squad Wins 4-Way Match

2 Ledgers Post
Sub-Par Rounds,
St. John Third

Little Chute—Sub-par rounds by two St. Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac golfers propelled the Ledgers to a victory in a quadrangular match at the Fox Valley Golf club.

Springs took the meet with a total of 21. Marinette Central finished second with 466. St. John's placed third with 73 and Premontre was fourth with 400.

Mike O'Neill, Springs ace, took medalist honors with a 71 for 18 holes. O'Neill went around in a 34, one under par, in the first nine and capped it with a 37.

Sinks 230 Yarder—John Merwin, Springs, hit a 3 on the first nine and then came back strong with a two under par 33 on the second round. Merwin turned in a double eagle on No. 5, a 480 yard, par five hole. His initial drive carried about 250 yards and using a 4 wood he sank the 230 yard shot.

Gary Versteegen led St. John with rounds of 44 and 3 while Mike Bongers was close behind with a 45 round followed by a 44.

This was the first match of the season for the Dutchmen who will participate in the state Catholic invitational at South Milwaukee Thursday.

The Results:
St. Mary Springs, 421; O'Neill, 34; Merwin, 45-33-76; Morcher, 46-42-88; Steinke, 46-44-92; Moses, 49-45-94; Marinette Central, 466; Kuehl, 42; 43-43; Kiefer, 45-43-89; Bradley, 51; 45-96; Doran, 50-47-97; Everson, 53; 47-100.

Technicality in Law Forces Trustee Out

New Locks Board
Must Take Action
To Fill Vacancy

Combined Locks—Trustee Marvin Schumacher lost his seat on the village board just 12 days after he was sworn into office due to a technicality in the law.

Schumacher, an unsuccessful candidate for village president in the April election, was elected trustee at the April 21 reorganization meeting.

Protests Appointment

Newly elected President Dan Williams protested at that time that the appointment of a man to fill the term should be done by the new village board and not members of the old board. An attorney's opinion was agreed on and village Atty. Gerard Van Hoof said it was the power of the old board to fill the term since it had occurred while the old board was in office.

Williams contested Schumacher's appointment by the old board because he had received an opinion from the League of Municipalities saying that it was the duty of the board members elected at the April balloting.

The league reversed itself and notified the attorney that it was the duty of the old board to handle the appointment. In the space of a week after Schumacher was picked for the post another letter came from the league of cities saying that it had changed its mind again and now it would be up to the new board, sworn into office after election, to fill the post.

Old Board Votes

After applications for the vacancy were opened at the April 21 meeting the old board voted. This included only four trustees and former village President Edward Kamps. There were only four trustees because Lindberg had resigned and Schumacher, a trustee for the last eight years before trying for the president's post, also resigned. Five applications were received and in the voting by the board Schumacher was picked by a 4-1 margin.

Attorney Van Hoof explained the problem at the board meeting Monday night and suggested that since the new board must act on the vacancy, applications be taken again.

Advertise Again

The board agreed with the proposal and the clerk was instructed to advertise for applications which must be turned in by the June 1 meeting. The post will remain vacant until that time.

President Williams said it "did not matter" to him who was on the board just so the law was carried out in village affairs. This was the first full meeting conducted by Williams since he was elected last month.

Williams said he pointed out to the League of Municipalities where another confusion in the law left him holding three offices for a short time.

Williams was sworn in as president and supervisor on April 21. He had been assessor of the village and the law provides that this office does not expire until May 1. It also provides that the president and assessor duties cannot be held by one man so because of the difference in dates Williams held all three offices, contrary to law.

The president said the league was looking into the statute in order to eliminate any further mixups.

Nelson Still Plans To Replace Steinmetz As Commissioner

Madison—Gov. Gaylord Nelson says he still plans to replace George P. Steinmetz, chairman of the state public service commission. Two attempts by Nelson to put Milwaukee Ald. Matt Schimenz into the post were turned back by the Republican-controlled senate.

Nelson told newsmen Monday he is "thinking of several people" for the job but that his thoughts do not include a third appointment of Schimenz.

Steinmetz's term has expired. Statute keeps him in office, however, until a successor is named and confirmed.

WHAT MAKES AN OLDS RIDE SO WELL?

GUARD-BEAM FRAME PROTECTION AND WIDE-STANCE CHASSIS CONSTRUCTION
Come in and see for yourself! The sturdy design of Oldsmobile's Guard-Beam Frame is clearly shown on this miniature model.
Take a trial drive in a 59 Olds. Discover how the 9-inch wheel frame makes Olds smoother, steadier, more sure-footed... more stable on turns. You'll find steering unresponsive, and

It all starts with a 9-inch wider frame... Oldsmobile's exclusive Wide-Stance Chassis!

When it comes to designing an automobile for superior riding qualities, the key engineering word is balance.

That's why Oldsmobile brings you the Wide-Stance Chassis—plus an exclusive frame construction with the best stability and security factors of both "X" and cross-member construction. There are stabilizer bars front and rear.

Big, smooth-acting front coil springs team up with wide, split-mounted leaf rear springs that automatically dampen road shock. And the springing system is further isolated by direct-action, air-board shock absorbers.

But for you, the important thing is the result: You're bound of smooth, road-hugging rides before... but you actually have to drive a 59 Olds to experience the marvelous difference in its ride. Now that it's Spring... why not join us and take that ride!

Five Topsy Drivers Pay, Forfeit

Robert McGlinn Involved in Accident on 41

Five drivers were fined and their licenses revoked for one year after they pleaded guilty to charges of drunk driving in Fox Cities area courts today. The courts revoked all the motorists' driver's licenses for a year.

They are Roland E. Polasek, 36, 67 Lawson street, Menasha; Douglas D. Thompson, 34, Waupaca; Carl J. Rodefer, 23, Milwaukee; Mose F. LeMieux, 58, Wales, Wis., and Robert McGlinn, 43, Green Bay.

Polasek was fined $100 by Waupaca Justice of the Peace George Whalen Saturday when Polasek pleaded guilty of drunken driving. He was arrested by the state patrol by the town of Waupaca March 20.

Sunday he was arrested by the county patrol in the town of Lebanon and charged with driving while his license was revoked and with displaying a revoked license as valid.

Justice Whalen fined him $200 on the first count and $50 on the other. He was committed to the county jail for 90 days when he was unable to pay the fines.

Thompson was fined $100 Monday when he pleaded guilty before Justice Whalen of drunken driving.

He was arrested April 25 by Waupaca police after his car went out of control and rolled into Shadow lake. He denied the charge when arraigned.

McGlinn forfeited $168.95 bond. He was arrested by county police Saturday after his car struck a guard rail on Highways 41 and 10 intersection, town of Grand Chute. He refused to take a drunkometer test. He was hospitalized about four hours after he was jailed. McGlinn received slight chest injuries in the accident.

Rodefer forfeited $118.95 bond. He was arrested by state police at about 12:25 a.m. Sunday on Highway 41 about a mile west of Kaukauna. He tested 22 on the drunkometer. A rating of .15 is considered evidence of intoxication.

LeMieux, who was arrested by state police about 2:05 p.m. Saturday on Highway 41 in the town of Kaukauna, also forfeited $118.95 bond. He tested 20 on the drunkometer.

Doctor's Trial May be Held in May Session

Dr. Ralph E. Wiley Facing Charges Of Burglary

Waupaca — The circuit court trial of Dr. Ralph E. Wiley, 42, Iola, charged with burglary, probably will be held during the May session of court which began Monday, according to Gerald K. Anderson, district attorney.

Anderson told the court Monday that he is awaiting records from Portage county which has also charged Wiley with burglary. The Iola physician will be tried in Judge Herbert A. Bunde's court on both charges.

Wiley was arrested in March after a sheriff's department and county patrol investigation. He appeared before Justice George Whalen, waived preliminary hearing and has been free on $5,000 bond.

His arrest solved a series of 13 burglaries in Portage and Waupaca counties. Items Wiley admitted taking were antiquities. Included were a spinning wheel, butter churn, Bible, lamps, vases and others.

Village Curbs Sale of Beer

Bear Creek Board Acts to Eradicate Disorderly Conduct

Bear Creek — The village board Monday restricted the sale of off-premise beer to persons over 21 years old and organized a study of tavern complaints in the village.

The board agreed most of the trouble in the village is caused by teenagers drinking outside licensed premises. Trustee James Rebman introduced the ordinance restricting the sale of package beer and liquor.

'Fisticuffs'
Leonard Lisbeth, village president, declared the study of tavern complaints was aimed at "eradicating any and all boisterous, disorderly conduct and fisticuffs." He said action would be taken on the study at the next board meeting.

In another action the board approved an ordinance prohibiting the presence of liquor or beer in cars operated by minors or in which minors are present.

A penalty of a fine of up to $200 or 60 days in jail or both was imposed as parts of both ordinances.

Trial Set for Shiocton Men

Pair Charged With Game Violations, Attack on Warden

Trial for two Shiocton men charged with two counts of illegal fishing was set for July 22 in municipal court today.

Preliminary hearing for obstructing a game warden was set June 10 by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede.

Roger Van Straten, 33, and Thomas Van Straten, 21, have denied the three charges.

The two fishing charges are possessing a fish trap and taking fish by means other than trolling or angling.

Arrested April 14 by Game Warden Charles Wranosky as they fished on the Wolf river in Shiocton.

Wranosky said the two men tried to flee as he attempted to make the arrest. The trio scuffled and fell in the river, he said. The warden drew his gun and took the pair to jail.

The men said Wranosky tried to drown them.

Pressmen Richard Kimball, left, and Orville Defferding feed rolls of the waxed paper insert running in today's Post-Crescent as Pages B-7 and B-8. The ad for FRESHrap waxed paper is the product itself. It is the first pre-printed insert in the Post-Crescent's history. About 14 miles of waxed paper will be used in the 38,200-plus copies of today's Post-Crescent—enough to span the Fox Cities from Kaukauna to Neenah-Menasha.

Waxed Paper Ad in Today's Paper, First in P-C History

The Post-Crescent today carries a 3-color wax paper insert, the first pre-printed insert it has ever carried.

The insert is the product it advertises — FRESHrap waxed paper. It will take about 14 miles of waxed paper to appear in the 38,200-plus copies of today's Post-Crescent — that's about the distance from Kaukauna to Neenah-Menasha, the Fox Cities. The total wax paper weighs about 1,275 pounds.

The manufacturer, Badger Paper Mills, Inc., Peshtigo, chose the Post-Crescent as the advertising medium in one of 30 outstanding markets in the United States. The ads will reach seven million homes, use 2,500 miles and four 40,000-pound carloads of FRESHrap.

The advertising message is repeated every 12 inches on the insert, so each subscriber of the Post-Crescent will receive a complete copy of the message. The message is printed on the paper, then waxed, so the harmless inks used cannot rub off. The ad invites housewives to try the paper with the brand they are now using, providing a sample with the message.

The wax paper sheets will be inserted in the Post-Crescent's presses with the regular newspaper to be fed into the complete edition.

Edgar E. Erdmann is vice president of Badger and manager of the FRESHrap division. William J. Van Dyck, formerly of Appleton, is vice president and manager of the fine paper division. Van Dyck formerly operated the Van Dyck Coal company at Badger and Wisconsin avenues here.

Two AHS Seniors Win State Awards For Science Talks

Of the four students selected for first place honors in the state meeting of the Wisconsin Junior Academy of Science at Platteville State college on Saturday, two were from Appleton High school.

John Scribner and Paul Wollwage, seniors, were awarded first places for their original science projects and reports.

Scribner's talk was on separation of light hydrocarbons by gas chromatography; Wollwage talked on high speed flash photography. Both won the right to enter the state meet by winning first place in the district meet earlier.

Other first place winners of the 20 participating were Thorst H. Fruehwirth, Rufus King High school in Milwaukee, whose paper on visualization of sections of bodies of revolution was considered the most original, and Dennis Thomson, Mt. Horeb High school, who reported on the "pinch effect" and atomic power.

Each of the winners received membership in the Senior Wisconsin Academy of Science, Arts and Letters.

Each year two junior students a boy and a girl, are chosen for top honors in the junior division Juniors chosen this year were John Carmody, Wauwatosa High school, who talked on the synthesis of vitamin K and Carol Barker, Adams Friendship High school, whose report was on insect mounting.

AHS Musicians Win 13 Firsts In Madison

One Auditions For Music Clinic Scholarship

Appleton High school musicians won 13 firsts at the state music festival in Madison Saturday. Student representatives from the band, orchestra and chorus competed.

All the vocal groups and soloists attending the state festival won first places. They were Rhonda Cundy, soprano solo, class A; Sally DeBraal, soprano solo, class A; and a quintet, class B, Jean Ashman, Jeanne Fuerst, Joanne Osterag, Judy Micheln and Marilyn Heule.

Nine band entries in solos and ensembles won first places. Ellen Larsen, a sophomore who played an oboe solo in class A won first place and also auditioned for a scholarship to the summer music clinic. Results of the audition will be announced later.

Other firsts in band ratings were given to Dave Ridgely, cornet solo, class B; Kris Pope, clarinet solo, class B; Paul Strieby, clarinet solo, class A; Ellen Larsen, English horn solo, class A; Joe Bronstad, tuba solo, class A; a clarinet duet, Peg Haynes and Kris Pope, class B; French horn duet, Kay Wilkinson and Lynn Pierson, class B, and French horn quartet, Kay Wilkinson, Lynn Pierson, Polly Grobe and Eleanor Wehrenberg, class B.

Band groups also won five seconds and two thirds.

Sharon Bauerlein won a first place for a violin solo in class A. She was the only one in the string section to receive a first place rating.

Four from the orchestra won second place ratings; and six, third place.

Library's New Books Include Biblical Tale

Frank Slaughter in "The Crown and the Cross," one of the new books on display at the public library, incorporates findings from the Dead Sea scrolls in his book, based on the King James version of the Bible.

In other non-fiction work, Eugene Kinkead, a New Yorker magazine editor, turns to the problem of collaboration with his documented work on the Korean war, "In Every War But One."

Other non-fiction works are Beatrice Russell's "Living in State," the adventures of a foreign service wife; Dorothy Van Doren's tale of her husband Mark, "The Professor and I," and "The Autobiography of Mary Twain" edited by Charles Neider.

The fiction list is topped by P. G. Wodehouse's collection of short stories, "A Few Quick Ones."

Dale Van Every's "The Scarlet Feather" is a panorama of the Ohio frontier in 1783.

A story of Scotland's Queen Mary Stuart, is featured in "The Lion and the Rose" by Jane Oliver.

Mary Stewart's "Nine Coaches Waiting" mingles suspense with romance with the setting of a French countryside.

Woman's Death Hikes State Toll

Milwaukee — Wisconsin's 1959 traffic toll has reached 200 compared with 228 on this same day a year ago.

Mrs. Caroline Dick, 41, Milwaukee, died in a hospital Monday of injuries suffered Sunday when she fell from a moving car into the path of another vehicle on Highway 30 near Delafield. Police said Mrs. Dick leaned against the door as the car turned.

Civil Defense Has No Money to Pay Students' Expenses

The office of civil and defense mobilization has no funds available until after June 30 for reimbursement of student expenses. A new law authorized payment of travel expenses and daily allowances up to one-half of the total cost for trainees attending OCDM schools.

OCDM will continue to offer courses in the staff college and radiological defense school at Battle Creek, Mich., including state and local action in natural disasters, April 27 to May 1; emergency management and operations for counties, May 4 to 8; religious affairs, May 18 to 21, and industry defense and mobilization, June 22 to 26.

The sparrow seems to like its new home, Balliet reported. At 11 a.m. today it was still perched in its refuge.

Editor Victor I. Minahan's office was visited by this sparrow Monday, and Mrs. Leandra Raiche, his secretary, aided her employer by capturing the bird before it stopped the presses.

A lone sparrow evidently found the weekend's warm weather strictly for the birds, according to Les Balliet, head of the Balliet Supply company.

State Doctors to Honor Three From Fox Cities Area for 50 Years Service

BY JACK HOLMUEYER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Three general practitioners from the Fox Cities area will be among 11 state doctors who will receive their 50 year pins from the state medical society Wednesday.

They are Drs. George T. Hegner, 72, Appleton; Fred J. Pfeiffer, 70, New London, and George A. Steele, 77, Oshkosh, who have practiced a total of 150 years.

The awards will be given at the society's 118th annual meeting in Milwaukee. Delegates from the Fox Cities area who will attend are Drs. George Behnke, Kaukauna; John Russell, Appleton; C. E. Larson, Clintonville; W. R. McInnis, Marion; G. P. Schwei, Menasha, and David Regan, Neenah. They will serve in the house of delegates of the society.

Fifty years may have wrought significant changes in the field of medicine and medical research, but the changes wrought in the outlook of Dr. George T. Hegner, 722 S. State street, are scarcely visible. He was born May 13, 1887, in Eden, Wis. His only wish is that he were young again. "Boy, I wish I were starting again," the white-haired physician said. "This has been an era of specialization—of discovery. There are so many opportunities today."

"How can you keep up? Well, it's terrible. The only way you can keep up is by attending medical meetings, reading medical literature, and going to seminars. In 50 years, you have to be on the job all the time to keep up," Dr. Hegner lists advances in anti-biotics as the greatest boon to practitioners today. "But," he added, "that new heart surgery is a wonder—and intestinal surgery!"

"It was all general surgery in my time. What were major operations now are routine, with the careful use of antiseptics to control infections."

Specialization
But the greatest characteristic of 50 years of medicine is specialization. "There has been more specialization in medicine than anything else in the world. Why, there's orthopedic surgery, gynecology, ophthalmology (in my day it was all eye, ear, nose and throat), public health, pediatrics, dermatology, and dozens more. It's hard to tell you these things without using the word specialization," the 72-year-old doctor added.

The process of modernization has also hit the physical practice of medicine. Dr. Hegner began practice in 1900, when he graduated from Marquette university medical school. Forty years later, Marquette honored him as its outstanding alumnus—the highest honor the university bestows on graduates.

He served his internship in Milwaukee County hospital, and became house surgeon in the Milwaukee Emergency hospital. He then married and came to Appleton.

Horse and Buggy
"I didn't have any money back in 1912," he recalls. "I had to rent a horse and buggy from the livery stable downtown. Those were the days."

"Why, I'd get a call in the middle of the night. Sometimes it would be blizzarding something fierce. The farmer would say his wife couldn't live through the night. He'd tell me he'd hang a lantern on the windmill so I couldn't miss the farm."

"I'd get into the buggy and head in the right direction. You couldn't see 10 feet ahead. I'd get where I thought I should be—and no lantern."

"A day or two later the man and his wife came into the office. 'Well,' the husband said, 'And I told him that I'd gone out there and couldn't find a lantern. And then he said, 'Well, my wife got to feeling better, so I took the lantern down.'"

Bought Car
Dr. Hegner wasn't without a car for too many years. His first one was a Morgan, he recalls. "One of the first cars in town. It was wonderful. I could get there faster and spend more time on calls."

Walter T. Fox, Principal of McKinley school for nearly 25 years and presently principal of James Madison Junior High school, was honored at a tea and reception at Madison school Sunday. Teachers who worked for Fox presented the school with an oil portrait of him. Left to right are Fox, Mrs. I. H. Dawes, Milwaukee, who taught for Fox in the early days of junior high schools in Appleton, and John P. Mann, superintendent of schools.

Since then, he has never been without a car.

Keeping up with medicine has not been the only vocation of Dr. Hegner. He has also been devoted to his family. His wife complains good-naturedly that doctors' wives never get any credit for staying home, rearing a family—and answering the phone—always the phone."

Dr. Hegner countered, "I owe everything to my wife. Without her I would never have gone as far as I have."

His son William Hegner is an Appleton attorney. He has three children, the oldest a son, George T. Hegner, "who is even taller than his grandfather."

Loves Baseball
Next to medicine and his family, Dr. Hegner loves baseball, fishing and reading, with baseball heading the list.

"The science of baseball—that's what I like about it. It's a scientific game."

But Dr. Hegner never let the sporting science get the better of his medical science. For 11 years, he served the home team as its Appleton physician. And today he counts some major league stars as personal friends.

"When I go down south every winter I see 'em. They all got their start up here. There's Joe Tipton, Hank Bauer, Mike Garcia and Pat Seerey. That Seerey, he ate himself out of baseball. But they've all been good men in town. It was wonderful. Many of them have gone into professions."

Dr. Hegner comments that he has never missed a Fox reading — "I read every Cities Foxes or Papermakers night after I get into bed. I game if he were in town read everything — especially 'And the best place to watch about the Civil war and philosophy. 'St. Thomas Aquinas' not on the players' bench philosophy. 'St. Thomas Aquinas' no sir. The best place is the as is my favorite. He's far third-base bleachers. That's ahead of everybody all over where all the major league the world."

Likes Reading
Fishing is another of the doctor's hobbies. "What do I like about fishing? I think it's the expectancy more than the fishing. You just sit there books on newspapering with the expectancy in mind. That's another one of the The idea of it is something great professions. There was at the end of the line. That's H. L. Mencken. He told the He cherishes his 25-year-old say for him. High School Senior Girls Feted at Sorority Alum Pan-Hellenic Tea

The Fox River Valley Alumnae Pan-Hellenic association held a tea Sunday afternoon at the Memorial union for high school senior girls from the Fox Cities and their mothers to acquaint the girls with sorority life on the campuses they will attend in the fall. Co-chairmen of the event were Mrs. William Maher, Neenah, center, and Mrs. Donald Lafin, right, Neenah. At left is Lawrence freshman, Cindy Hutchison, Green Bay, who modeled an outfit the freshman girl might wear to a rushing party.

Among the Mothers and Daughters who attended the tea were Sue Fulton, center, from Appleton High school, and Mrs. David Fulton, right. Representatives of the Pan-Hellenic group were hostesses. Mrs. George Banta, III, left, a hostess, Menasha, assists Sue with a nametag.

One Representative From Each sorority in the senior Pan-Hellenic group on the Lawrence college campus attended the tea. College sophomore, Jane Gant, Indianapolis, Ind., left, acts as hostess to Sally Hertz, Kaukauna High school, as Mrs. Gordon Matson, Appleton, right, a sorority alumna, officiates at the tea table.

Mrs. Alton Swanson, Appleton, left, an alum hostess chats with high school girls Helen Loehning, Neenah High school, center, and Barbara Snyder, St. Mary High school, Menasha, right. The girls watched a program given by the Lawrence junior Pan-Hellenic group and Mrs. George Banta, Jr., who told them about national sorority life.

Tiny Eastern Judge, Daughter Of Immigrants Wins Award

BY DOROTHY BOE

New York—Mrs. Jennie Lottman Barron of Brookline, Mass., judge of the superior court of Massachusetts and grandmother of seven, was named today the American Mother of 1959.

Announcement was made by Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, president of the American Mothers Committee Inc., before a distinguished group of mothers chosen from each state, assembled at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel to hear the decision of the national jury.

Judge Barron is the mother of three daughters. Throughout her life she has been active in community, state and national organizations. Although she has been outstanding in her profession of law since the time of her marriage, she always put her duties as wife and mother ahead of professional demands.

Born and educated in Boston, Judge Barron is the daughter of Russian immigrants. She received her B.A., LL.B. and LL.M. degrees from Boston University and in 1918 was married to Samuel Barron, Jr., a lawyer. They practiced law together as the firm of Barron and Barron.

In February she was named the first woman judge in the hundred-year history of the Massachusetts superior court. In April she was named the Massachusetts "Mother of the year."

Her daughters, all graduates of Wellesley college are: Erma, now Mrs. Philip Wernick, mother of three sons; Mrs. Deborah Blazer, who died in 1956, leaving three children; Joy, the youngest, also a practicing attorney, mother of one and wife of Dr. William B. Rachlin, a surgeon. Both surviving daughters are active in community work in and around Boston.

Six Qualifications

Selection of the mother of the year is based on six qualifications: First, she must be a successful mother. Second, she must be an active member of a religious body. Third, she must embody the traits of courage, cheerfulness, patience, affection, kindness, understanding and homemaking ability. Fourth, she must exemplify in her life the precepts of the golden rule. Fifth, she must be active in public affairs. Sixth, she must be qualified to represent the mothers of America in all responsibilities attached to her role as mother of the year.

In the background of Mrs. Barron's life was her Russian-born mother, telling her little daughter: "Money isn't important. It can be lost or stolen. Learning is the thing that enriches your spirit—and that, no one can take from you."

Jennie listened to her mother. She graduated from grammar school at 12 as class valedictorian. A working student, she finished high school at 15. Between selling Shakespeare door-to-door and teaching night school, she finished her Boston university four-year course in three years and her BU three-year law school course in two.

She became a lawyer in an era when women could neither serve on juries, nor vote.

Your Problems

Cultural Letter Exchange Not Good, Says Doting Mom

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm 24, self-supporting, and living at home. For the past few months I've been exchanging magazines and letters with a gentleman in India. He is married and has written in detail about his wife and family.

I started this correspondence because I wanted to do my bit to make friends for America and offset some of the propaganda the Russians have been pouring into that country. My mother objects strongly. She says an unmarried girl never corresponds with a married man for any reason whatever. I've explained this is no romance, that the letters are purely cultural in content and have even offered to let her read them. She stands firm. Your opinion, please—W. W.

A girl 24 should be able to decide with whom she wishes to correspond without help from mother. The exchange of letters and literature sound like a fine idea. India declared her independence in 1950. When are you going to do the same?

DEAR ANN: Our son is 17 and a junior in high school. He is mature mentally and physically, a fine student and active in sports.

He's going steady with a 22-year-old girl. She's teaching school and they are madly in love. They're together seven nights a week. She's immature emotionally and puts it to her every minute. She refuses to go anywhere without him, even to church. We've told him he should date others but he says he loves her so why bother? She resents us bitterly and accuses us of trying to "break them up."

This is a real problem in our home. What can we do?—Worried Dad

Your first mistake was permitting your son to get tied up with any girl seven nights a week, much less a 22-year-old one. This is a sick relationship and the school teacher sounds like an emotional basket case. Most 22-year-old girls wouldn't be caught dead with a high school junior.

Apparently the boy does pretty much as he pleases so you need outside help. I suggest a visit with the high school dean of men, the football coach, a clergyman, doctor or some adult for whom he has respect. This should be private (between the boy and the party he selects). Allow him to make the choice so he won't think you've fixed the interview. He'll get the same advice you've been giving him, but from an outsider it may make a dent.

DEAR ANN: My sister-in-law and I run a small but prosperous beauty salon. Several months ago a very nice patron told us she was an accountant and that she'd do our bookkeeping and income

Scouts Present May Baskets to Morgan School Children

Girl Scouts of Troop 73 of St. Theresa Catholic school visited Morgan school Friday to give May baskets to the exceptional children. A luncheon and play day were included in activities.

The project was part of requirements for the first class badge. Leaders are Mrs. Harvey Doro and Mrs. Gordon Simon.

Our Children

Child's Affection Can't be Bought

BY ANGELO PATRI

John Henry is in college. He, according to his reports, is not a brilliant scholar but a hard working one who gets passing marks in all subjects.

His father and mother are annoyed, even angered, because he does not write to them unless he wants something. Finally they sent him some stamped addressed cards asking that he send them one occasionally to say how he is doing. No cards arrived and when he got home for the holidays and they asked him why he said he was so busy working at his books trying to keep up, that he had no time for writing home.

Now his father says as long as he feels so independent he should go all the way and be so and that he won't pay his college bills any longer. He wants to know if that isn't logical—correct. My opinion is that it is a bad parental attitude. Here is a boy working hard to justify his being in college. It would be a better home relationship to write to his parents—of course. But for some reason he doesn't feel that way. I wonder if he senses this grudging attitude on his parents' side? (His father said he could use the money to better advantage.) If he does feel this attitude on his family's part he does not feel free, happy or at ease to talk or to write to them.

Many parents are hurt by the apparent negligence of their adolescent children in matters like this. They count up their sacrifices and put the sum of them beside the neglects of their growing children and the injury they feel is greater by the minute. That is, to say the least, not a good way to establish affectionate relationships in the family.

Parents are under heavy obligation to raise their children in sound health of body and mind. They nurse them in sickness, provide for them in whatever situation arises, without counting the sacrifice. They should not expect children to show gratitude for such care.

They will not have that feeling until life bears down on them and they get a glimpse of the toil and sacrifice their parents endured for their sakes. It is then that gratitude and a deeper love is born in them. Meanwhile, parents "suffer the children," suffering them meaning bearing with them and loving them more and more.

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Most sitters, these days, have some knowledge of the rudiments of baby sitting. But trained or no, any sitter is only as good as you help her to be.

It's a good idea to have the sitter come once as a guest, to get acquainted with baby and you. If you familiarize sitter with baby's quirks and habits and outline her duties clearly, you'll help her out immeasurably. If you do not oversay your return time, she'll come back with more enthusiasm.

Another Gerber "first" ... with distinct nutritional advantages: Gerber's Strained and Junior Cottage Cheese with Pineapple. This new, exclusive "main dish" is rich in the high quality proteins your baby needs for growth and strength. In addition, it provides significant amounts of bone-building calcium and riboflavin. And all this nourishing goodness is in the most delectable form imaginable.

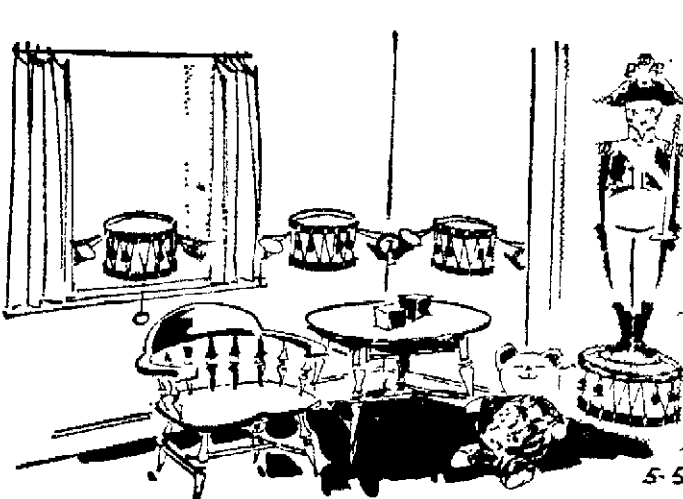

Sunny way to give your baby a helping helping of nourishment. Gerber Strained Egg Yolks are sunny-colored, creamy-textured and rich in iron and vitamin-A. They also provide a goodly measure of body-building protein. Perfectly delicious when served "as is," an added attraction when used as a topping for cereal or green vegetables or in a milk nog for toddlers. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

Play-pen pointers. When you first introduce your baby to his own special "housing development," just let him stay in it for short periods till he gets accustomed to his new surroundings. Increase time gradually and schedule approximately the same times each day, so he will accept his play pen hours as routine.

borders at this level create a smart dado effect.

There's an extra idea here, too, in the way the border is pasted on the window shade, to follow the wall line-up where the shade is down. Other borders might decorate cornice boards or outline door and window frames, or motifs can be cut from them to decorate furniture. Sometimes a border has unexpected companion piece decorations, as this one does—tall toy soldier cut-outs, one of which is mounted on the bright-painted door (Wallpaper by Basset & Vollum).

Mother's Helper

by Heumann & Pearson

IF YOUR otherwise amenable and healthy baby seems to resent being put to bed for the night, try spitting his evening feeding. Give him his cereal and a small bottle an hour or two before bedtime, and fruit or pudding plus a full bottle just before you tuck him in. It might do the trick. (Copyright, 1959)

Even though North's diamond raise over the takeout double was a weakness bid, it was still not justified on that particular diamond support; and the rest of North's bidding was of course the most desperate kind of "saying." Granting that a determined fight is in order for the rubber game, there is no excuse for such neck-stretching and the result wasn't a great deal worse than North might have expected.

It is true, however, that North would have saved some thing from the wreck if he had been permitted to play five clubs doubled and it was astonishing that South, a Life Master, should have taken it upon himself to "correct" the contract back into diamonds. True, North's first-round raise implied four-card diamond support, but his subsequent actions denied any such message.

West following up impeccably bidding by his side made the shrewd selection of his singleton diamond for the opening lead—and declarer was in a frightful position. Winning with the ace he tried to get a club trick home by leading small toward dummy but he failed. West put in the nine and East ruffed dummy's queen. Powell - Ford Marriage Splits After 16 Years

Santa Monica, Calif. — "I am sure Glenn will be much happier alone. He isn't happy now."

So says Eleanor Powell, explaining why she sued Glenn Ford for divorce. Her 16-year marriage to the movie box-office king had been considered one of Hollywood's happiest.

Her attorney, Jerry Giesler, confirmed Miss Powell's statement.

Ford declined comment.

The former dancer's suit asked custody of the couple's 14-year-old son, Peter Newton Ford, and listed the actor's mother, Mrs. Hannah L. Ford of Beverly Hills, as a co-defendant.

Nancy Heaton Honored At Pre-Nuptial Parties

Miss Nancy G. Heaton, daughter of Mrs. Esther J. Heaton, 115 N. Appleton street, has been honored at several pre-nuptial parties. She will become the bride of John L. Belling, son of Mrs. Grace Belling, 531 N. Vine street, at First English Lutheran church at 7 p.m. Saturday.

Miss Heaton was feasted at a miscellaneous shower Thursday given by some of her fellow workers at the First National bank. Hostesses were the Misses Dorothy Hedberg, Ardyth Redlin and Elaine Ringstad. Fifteen guests were present at the party held at the Hedberg residence, 1205 W. Commercial street.

A staples and kitchen shaver were given for the bride-elect by her cousin, Mrs. Byron Bowley, 525 E. Parkway boulevard. Seventeen guests attended the April 28 event.

The Guardian council of Job's Daughters honored Miss Heaton at a linen shower on April 27 at the home of Mrs. Merrill Magoon, 709 E. Brewster street. Ten guests attended.

City Receives Its Share of Fire Risk Policies' Premiums

The city has received $8,853.40 from the state as its share of fire insurance premiums for meeting fire protection standards. It compares with $8,514.25 received last year.

The sum amounts to 2 percent of the premiums paid to insurance companies on property in the city. It indicates about $425,762 in premiums paid. To qualify the fire chief made regular reports of inspections to the industrial commission.

Statewide Paul J. Rogan, state insurance commissioner, said $601,251 is being distributed to municipalities.

The Appleton money is paid into the firemen's pension fund each year. City treasurer Ray L. Feuerstein said eight tricks for a 1700 point penalty. North at least would have saved 600 points at five clubs doubled.

Business Executives Don Chef's caps to offer a king-size welcome and the tools of the trade to a junior cook, Miss Mary Ellen Schumann, second from right, 1218 Oregon street, Oshkosh. Greeters, from left, are TV star Betty Furness, Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger company and John W. Craig, Westinghouse vice president. Occasion is Cook-Off finals of the "Junior Cook of the Year" contest being held in Cincinnati to select the nation's best teenage cook.

Teens Compete

Life Takes Cinderella Turn For Oshkosh Cook-Off Entrant

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

Cincinnati—For Mary Ellen Schumann, 15, Oshkosh school-girl, life has taken a Cinderella turn as one of the 50 finalists in the Kroger-Westinghouse search for the nation's top teenage cook.

Things have been in a whirl of adventure since she left her home town Saturday with her mother, Mrs. Edward Schumann, 1218 Oregon street, Oshkosh. She has taken her first airplane flight, stayed in a plush, 29-story metropolitan hotel and traveled outside Wisconsin for the first time. She has met, posed, talked and dined with celebrities, including Betty Furness of TV fame (from whom she got an autograph to treasure), Clementine Paddleford, noted food columnist, and other luminaries of the food and business world.

Smooth Flight

The air trip was a bit rough for Mary Ellen on the first leg of her journey, but after leaving Chicago's busy Midway port in a luxurious DC-7 it was smooth flying all the way. She took time out from a game of cards to admire the cloud banks and terrain far below when the cloud formations parted enough to see the towns, cities and fields below.

To get to Cincinnati by air, passengers land in Kent county, Kentucky. The drive to the city was proof that Wisconsin was far away, in spite of being only five hours from Oshkosh.

Here summer is at hand. Lilacs dogwood and tulips are in full bloom. Grass is velvety green and trees full leaved. Wayside ponds in the country were collecting green scum that comes with prolonged hot weather. Like the balmy afternoon left behind in Wisconsin and Chicago the thermometer had climbed to the 90s.

tel, headquarters for the cook-off, is in the heart of downtown Cincinnati. It is one of the hotels that date back to the era of ornate decorations, with mirror-lined ballroom, gilded wall lights, colorful and intricately designed chandeliers, wide, deeply carpeted halls and lobbies.

From their room, high above the surrounding buildings, Mary Ellen and her mother had a view of several of the seven hills upon which the city is built. At night the lights twinkle in a cup-shaped pattern like sparkling jewels.

From the moment of their arrival, they became two very busy people. They attended get-together meals with other contestants and their companions, took a 3-hour tour of the city Sunday afternoon, attended breakfasts, buffet luncheons and dinners in their honor. They toured a soap plant and even managed a little shopping trip.

Spotlight on Glamor

A banquet was given Sunday night in tribute to the contestants, who represented 18 states, mainly in the mid-west and the south. Each finalist was introduced and was glamorously spotlighted, one by one. Miss Furness, outfitted in a simple white frock and a high, but head-bugging hat of enormous white flowers, was one of the main speakers. She presented some "girl talk" on her wardrobe for TV appearances (she has 352 different dresses) and performed a nonsense piece with her college daughter, Barbara Green.

Highlight of the banquet entertainment was the appearance of the four Crew Cuts, who sang and clowned their way through a big share of their repertoire as teens applauded them back again and again for numbers.

The dinner itself even had a touch of drama. For dessert the lights were turned out and a long line of waiters carried in candlelight servings of Baked Alaska. More than 40 newspaper and magazine food editors attended the banquet.

Set to Work

Monday was the down-to-business day with contestants briefed at a breakfast session before they took their places at their respective electric ranges set up in efficient rows in the ballroom. For every five teenagers there was a technician ready to give assistance in case of trouble.

It was a work day for them all, 48 girls and two boys in their chef-caps and cooking outfits. The cooking time lasted from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. with a short break for lunch. For those with recipes of short preparation and cooking time, the session ended more quickly, but some finalists took as long as six hours to prepare their dishes at least twice.

Each finalist chose the best of the foods prepared and this was sent immediately into the judges' rooms for testing, tasting and rating. The recipes included a wide variety of foods with 31 of the cooks preparing desserts, seven making casserole dishes, two baking breads and 10 cooking other main dishes.

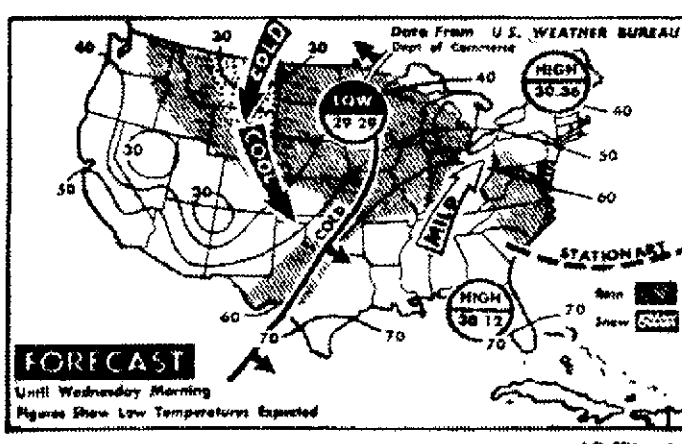

Two Boys Compete

The two boys entered in the contest favored hearty foods, the junior contestant from Ohio baking "Boy Scout Style Pork Chops" and the senior division entry from St. Louis, Mo., making what he calls his "Mom's Night Out Casserole" featuring ground beef and vegetables.

Mary Ellen as one of the junior division (12 to 15-year-old cooks) baked a one-meal dish with an unusual arrangement of sausage and apple rings topped with a batter. The other Wisconsin junior contestant, Rosemary Frederick, 14, Columbus, made an Americanized version of an Oriental dish.

In the senior division, Jeanne Colle, 18, Milwaukee, prepared Knudlein, mock noodles with kraut, and Caroline Endres, 16, Hartford, baked a poppyseed cream pie.

A very special four days ended for Mary Ellen and her 49 fellow teenagers at the awards luncheon today. Mary Ellen will start her second air flight at 4 p. m. today, this time back home.

Showers and Lower Temperatures are expected tonight over most of the area between the Rockies and the Appalachians. Shower activity is likely in parts of the central Appalachians and mid-Atlantic states.

Milwaukee Has Developed Harbor

Milwaukee —H— A far-sighted harbor development program has put Milwaukee in a state of readiness for the long-awaited opening of the new Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep seaway.

Full realization of the economic impact of the seaway on Wisconsin's principal port is not likely to be felt immediately. The change is likely to be gradual, but firmly founded.

The new look on Milwaukee's waterfront will consist principally of the presence of deep draft ships never before seen on the Great Lakes. These will be major freighters off the trade routes of the world.

Lines Eye Great Lakes

Three new ocean lines will start serving Milwaukee and other major lake ports this year and three others reportedly are planning to enter the Great Lakes. They will bring for the first time service to the Persian gulf, west and south Africa and the Far East. Last year 21 ocean lines served Milwaukee. This year ships coming into our port in there will be 24, possibly more, and for the first time, lot more opportunities to ship on the lakes, they will use full from Milwaukee.

One Passenger Ship

Only one ocean going passenger ship is likely to be seen here. It is the brand new, combination passenger-freighter ship, the Prinses Irene of the Dutch Orange line, with luxury accommodations for 110 passengers.

More Foreign Aid

Municipal Port Director Harry Brockel foresees much larger shipments of the government's foreign aid program — flour, milk, cheese and other farm products across Milwaukee docks. Brockel points out that only 1 per cent of the foreign aid goods is shipped via Great Lakes ports while 6 million tons move out of seaboard ports although much of it originates in the middle west and is shipped long distances by rail.

Also brightening the picture is the fact that toward the end of 1958 some ship lines were offering virtually the same rates from Milwaukee and New York. Equalized rates are hoped for this year, offering major savings to midwestern shippers. Use of and on Washington street in front of the Post-Crescent to Appleton street will be a saving of two days put the lights on Appleton street from College avenue to the tracks Oneida street from Washington street to the tracks and Washington street from Appleton street to Morrison street and perhaps west.

Sees More Traffic

Brockel expects to see increased traffic in fertilizers, grain and oils. The bigger ships will be hungry for bulk grain and perhaps west.

export cargo, especially grain and fertilizers.

There has been an important increase in shipments here of bentonite, a clay which is shipped by rail from South Dakota and Wyoming for transshipment to Norway, England, Sweden, Finland, France and Germany for use by the foundry and mining trade.

Brockel says that inquiries have been made on new trade between Milwaukee and U.S. ocean ports. This would likely consist of bulk commodities.

Milwaukee probably moved faster and more extensively to get ready for the seaway than any other port on the Great Lakes. One of the world's largest and finest piers, costing $6 million, is under construction on Jones Island. In 1958, ships and channels were dredged and a terminal building constructed on a new $1,300,000 passenger pier. A new 20 acre bulkhead enclosure for 2,000 feet of mooring at the inner harbor entrance.

Canals were dredged to 21 feet work completed on a viaduct needed for heavy truck traffic on Jones Island. Private industry constructed a ship repair and metal working plant, two truck terminals, a salt warehouse and a ship repair service building.

Hearing Wednesday on Costs Of Street Lights, Concrete

Special assessments for ornamental street lighting and concrete streets will undergo a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday before the city council.

The street lighting project, first of a 2-year program, will cost abutting property owners $5 a foot on one side of the street.

First-year work would put mercury vapor lights, such as those on College avenue, on the Superior street from Lawrence street north to the Chicago and North Western tracks, Appleton street from Lawrence street to College avenue and on Washington street in front of the Post-Crescent to Appleton street.

Next year the city would put the lights on Appleton street from College avenue to the tracks Oneida street from Washington street to the tracks and Washington street from Appleton street to Morrison street and perhaps west.

Norman Hall has been elected president of the Lions club. Other officers are Fred C. Matthews, first vice-president; Carl G. Malmberg, second vice-president; Edward M. Adam, third vice-president; Howard A. Preston, secretary; Vernon R. Thorson, treasurer; Allan L. Mink, tail-twister; and John C. Ehke, lion tamer. Directors-at-large named were Erik L. Madisen, Sr.; John R. Christoph and Donald A. Haynes.

Hearing on Ballard Road Wigwags Set

A public hearing on the need for automatic signals at the Chicago and North Western's Ballard road crossing will be held by the state public service commission at 9 a.m. Thursday, May 21, at Outagamie county courthouse.

Clarence J. Brownson, county highway commissioner, April 6 petitioned the PSC for wigwags at the crossing. On April 27, the town of Grand Chute joined the petition.

The Appleton council Wednesday will be asked to join in the petition also and will be asked to enter a first-time petition for wigwags at the Owaissa and Charlotte street crossings.

Sought by Kemps
County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps sought the Ballard road wigwags after the second train-car fatality in four years.

A year ago, the city council told the North Western it would approve replacement of all flagmen at city crossings if the railroad would include the three crossings in the switch to automatic signals.

The railroad refused and sought and received approval for a flagman-wigwags switch from the state commission. The approval excluded provisions for the three northeast crossings.

The state commission, if it acts favorably on the petitions, has the power to order the railroad to install the signals.

Demolition Work Ends, Construction Starts On Conway Project

Demolition work at the Conway hotel project ended Friday and general construction began on the 72-room replacement-addition.

The date was the seventh anniversary of the day John Conway, secretary and treasurer, assumed active management of the hotel.

Kuhn Enterprises, demolition contractor, turned over the project to Oscar J. Boldt Construction company, Inc., general contractor Ray Jurek, hotel manager, said.

Boldt immediately began laying plans for footings and sub-footings and plumbing leads.

Azco, Inc., holds the plumbing, heating, air-conditioning and ventilating contract. Superior Electric company has the electrical contract.

Bids on Sewers Range $26,225 to $50,177

Public Works Committee Also Takes Offers on Truck, Oil

Neenah — The public works committee Monday opened bids for parts of its summer program and for a pickup truck, referring the bids either to the council or the street committee.

Low bidder for a portion of the storm and sanitary sewer and water main installation was Central Contracting company of Oshkosh, which entered a cost of $26,225.

The other bids were Faulks Brothers, Weyauwega, $50,177; Charles A. Green and Son, Appleton, $28,775; J. O. Johnson, Inc., Appleton, $28,437; and C. F. Kalupa, Inc., Berlin, $28,937.

Four bids received for a three-quarter ton pickup truck were Baur Truck and Equipment company, Appleton, $1,534; Gibson company, Menasha, $1,595; Neenah-Menasha Motors, Inc., Neenah, $1,575; and Fox Valley Truck Service, Appleton, $1,530.

Crushed stone bids received were from Badger Highways, Menasha, $2.04 delivered and $1.66 at the plant for crusher run and $1.85 at the plant for chips.

Seven bids for road oil were received and ranged from .1216 to .1331 for one type oil and .1241 to .1356 for another type oil per gallon, depending on whether the oil was to be delivered by truck or tank car.

Also opened were bids for sidewalk construction. These bids were John Fischer, Appleton, $9,555; Norbert McHugh, Appleton, $9,570; C. and S. Cement company, Neenah, $11,350; and Henry Verbrugge and Son, Little Chute, $11,610.

Campers Group to Hear About Tents

Neenah — A 3-fold program is planned for the meeting of the Fox Valley chapter of the National Campers and Hikers association at the Boys' Bridge building at 8 p.m. Wednesday.

Foster Lincoln will speak on tents, tarpaulins and materials while William Dunwiddie will talk on canoe camping.

The program will close with a general discussion on camping equipment.

Law Day Observed At St. Mary High

Menasha — In response to President Eisenhower's proclamation, St. Mary High school sociology classes Friday sponsored a general high school assembly in observance of Law day.

David Spang outlined the pattern of American constitutional law, emphasizing respect for the individual. Two films on law's meaning were shown.

Bicycle Safety is Being Stressed by Neenah policemen in talks at the various schools this week. A 20-minute movie on safety precedes the demonstration given by the policeman, such as Raymond Tuchscherer is giving to primary pupils at Hoover school.

Twin City Deaths

John Toddish

Neenah — John Toddish, 82, of 307 High street, died at 2:20 p.m. Monday after a lengthy illness. He was born Dec. 21, 1876 at Muskegon, Mich., and lived in Neenah the last 45 years.

He and his wife celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in August, 1956. He was formerly employed by the Wickert Lumber company and city of Neenah.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Friday at St. Patrick Catholic church with burial in Oak Hill cemetery.

Friends may call at the Westgor Funeral home after 4 p.m. Thursday where the rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. that day.

Mrs. Ella Ingbertson

Winneconne — Mrs. Ella Anderson Ingbertson, 86, died at 2:45 p.m. Monday at Oshkosh after being in failing health for some time. She was born May 2, 1873 in the town of Winneconne and farmed with her husband in the town of Poygan until 1928 when they retired and moved to Winneconne. There are no immediate survivors.

Funeral services will be held 2 p.m. Thursday at the Mueller Funeral home with the Rev. Harvey Kahrs, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, in charge. Burial will be in the Winneconne cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from Wednesday afternoon until the services on Thursday.

Mrs. Frank Klink

Neenah — Mrs. Frank Klink, 81, of 206 W. Wisconsin

Bergstrom Paper Given Safety Honor

1958 Record Below Average of Mills
Of Similar Size as to Frequency Rate

Neenah — Bergstrom Paper company has been presented a certificate of achievement by the National Safety council for the year 1958. The certificate was achieved by having a lower injury frequency rate than the previous year and having that rate lower than the average of other paper mills its size.

The company's frequency rate for 1957 was 19.68 and for 1958 was 8.86, based on the number of lost-time accidents per million man-hours worked.

The average of the 78 other paper mills of similar size was 10.20 in 1957 and 8.96 for 1958.

More significant, company officials pointed out to employees, is the improvement in severity rates which is a measure of the number of days lost from work during a year's period.

Employees lost 725 days from

Police Boat To Undergo Rigid Test

Neenah — Equipped with two new engines, the Neenah police boat took to the water this morning and will undergo a shake-down run Thursday.

Two new 200-horsepower engines were installed during the winter months to replace the two 160-horsepower engines which had been used for nine years.

Crews also are adjusting the shafts and relining them to the engine mounts as well as checking all equipment.

After the boat goes through its shake-down cruise Thursday, it will be ready for handling any distress calls. Police Chief Irving H. Stulp indicated.

Fish Too Close to Dam, Two Men Fined

Oshkosh — Two Appleton men were fined $10 and costs each today in municipal court on conviction on charges of fishing in the Fox river within 200 feet downstream of the Menasha dam.

They are Lloyd Huss, 30, 627 W. Fifth street, and Ron Hora, 18, 1811 N. Meade street.

Neenah Board Ok's Gym Treatment Plan

Bids Sought for Improving Acoustics
Of Hall; New School Bus Purchased

Neenah — Approval of a plan for acoustically treating the new Neenah High school gymnasium and purchase of a school bus were made at Monday's board of education meeting.

Board members accepted the recommendations of Howard Hardy and Associates, Chicago, consulting engineers on acoustics, as to the method of treating the gym.

He suggested using a sheet-regated aluminum sheet backed by fiberglass suspended from the ceiling and a change in the arrangement of the public address system.

Specifications are being prepared and bids will be taken within several weeks.

Board members doubted if the entire work could be completed in time for the commencement program but that the change in the public address system could be undertaken by then.

The board accepted the bid of the Baur Truck and Equipment company, Appleton, for a new 60-passenger bus. The net bid, including the trade-in of a 1950 bus, was $6,882.

The school board charges off the use of a bus over a 7-year period and the bus being traded had been used for eight years, it was mentioned.

A preliminary report on a salary schedule for office clerks was made by Chairman Paul Groth and after further study and consultation, a decision on the salaries is to be made at the June meeting.

Albert Goerlitz, Taft school principal, was engaged to make the school census in June.

Son of Pioneer Neenah Family Dies

Neenah — Henry W. Schimpf, 89, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. F. Schimpf, pioneer Neenah residents, died at Zephyrhills, Fla., last week. Funeral services for the man who was born in Neenah but moved away many years ago were held at Zephyrhills.

Survivors are the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Muriel Tallman, Chicago; a son, Warren B. Schimpf, Anderson, Ind.; three sisters, Mrs. Louise Turner and Mrs. Dora E. Gibson of Lakeland, Fla., and Mrs. Ray Fisher of Brookfield, Ill.; three grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Bartender Fined for Not Having License

Neenah — Simon Barlow, 41, 6201 Maple street, was fined $2 and costs Monday by Police Justice E. P. Arpin after he pleaded guilty of tending bar without a bartender's license. He was arrested at 1:10 a.m. Friday.

Neenah Vets Post Names New Officers

Group; June 1
Installation Set

Neenah — New officers were elected Monday and discussion of building expansion plans was laid over until next month by members of Hawley-Dieckhoff Post 33 of the American Legion.

Leonard Larson was named commander to succeed Casper Olson.

Other new officers named were Clarence Evensen, first vice commander; Walter Kuehn, second vice commander; Kenneth Lewis, adjutant; Louis Schmidt, chaplain; and Donald Raiche and George Henebry, sergeants-at-arms.

George Runde was re-elected finance officer for his 10th term.

New executive committee members are Jim Cummings, Jack Meyer, Reed Horn and Arnold Sorenson.

House committee members are William Gore and Donald Raiche.

At the June 1 meeting, officers will be installed and the executive committee will present its plans for expansion of the clubhouse on Harrison street.

Prowler Reported on Hunters Point Road

Oshkosh — A prowler was reported on Hunters Point road in the town of Neenah about 10:58 p.m. Sunday by a babysitter who saw a man standing outside the window.

He was described as being about 30 years of age, had whiskers, about 6 feet tall and wore a long coat and no hat. She said he ran through the back yard when he saw her. Another babysitter heard a noise and looked out in time to see a shadowy figure run past the door.

Women Give Reasons For Political Work

BY CAROL RICHARDSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Oshkosh — "Why are you active in a political party?" was the question asked of several delegates attending the state Republican women's convention Friday during a reception given by Mrs. Robert Murray at her Leonard's Point home.

Mrs. Marshal Wilcox, Watousa, replied that a woman usually asks herself how legislation affects her family personally and it's a good thing she does, as it will affect most other families the same way. "I think it's a mistake that there aren't more women in political offices,"

Auxiliary Has Party

Menasha — Menasha Eagles auxiliary held a Mothers' day party Sunday with members of the Kaukauna unit as guests. Oldest mothers honored were Mrs. Pauline Wienske and Mrs. Louise Rezak.

Prize winners were Mrs. Lloyd Brantmeier, Mrs. H. A. Luker, Mrs. Donald Cole, Miss Kathryn Webb and Miss Lynn Smith.

India Topic Of Church Group

Menasha — The Women's fellowship of the First Congregational church will meet at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Hans J. Smith will speak on her native India and tell members of her work there, Indian customs and present needs and concerns.

Menasha Woman Elected to State Office

Menasha — Mrs. Gertrude Anderson was re-elected state department recording secretary at the American Gold Star Mothers Inc., convention Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Stevens Point. Delegates from Neenah-Menasha chapter attending the sixth annual party were Mrs. Minnie Rohe, Mrs. John Staniak, Mrs. Emma Cummings, Mrs. C. J. Erickson and Mrs. Anderson. The convention will be held at Green Bay next year.

Homemakers Clubs Mark Home Demonstration

Neenah — During National Home Demonstration week, which is being observed this week, Winnebago county homemakers will review achievements of the past year at the annual achievement dinner program at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Margaret's church.

The purpose of the week is to extend the public to the extension service program and emphasize its contribution to home and family living by helping homemakers know and use recent developments in the field of home economics.

Winnebago county has 53 clubs and approximately 800 members. The extension work is under the guidance of the University of Wisconsin with training brought to local clubs by the staff of the county extension office.

During the past year, county homemakers have had projects on creating centerpieces with articles from nature, proper use of credit, preparation and serving of buffet meals, selection of jewelry and accessories and how to wear accessories emphasizing neatness and simplicity.

Each club has a health program with civil defense as the topic for this year. Books from the county library are available to all clubs through the local club libraries. A special feature of the year's program was the Christmas fair held in November. Exhibits included table centerpieces, Christmas cookies, candies, breads and rolls, aprons, gift ideas and ornaments. Special interest meetings during the year were basic clothing construction and textile painting.

Homemakers who do not belong to a club may join one in their area or form a new group making it possible for interested persons to avail themselves of the training of extension workers.

"Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World" is the theme of the week. Extension workers point out, "in the rapidly changing pattern of modern day living, homemakers need an up-to-date source of reliable information that will help them in solving problems of the family and community. Home demonstration work is designed to meet that need."

Mrs. Wilcox continued. "There are a lot of educated women going to waste — women whose children are grown and whose husbands can support them comfortably. They wouldn't have to compromise in office because they wouldn't be dependent upon a political job for their livelihood."

According to Mrs. Robert Harmon, Oshkosh, women have a civic duty to participate in politics. "We have more time for that than men do," she added. "I think women have a definite place in politics," Mrs. Alfred De Keyser, De Pere, stated. "We discuss situations at home, so we usually reflect our husbands' opinions too."

Mrs. John Buckstaff, Oshkosh, said that women really raise and educate their families and that men don't have as much time to devote to political occurrences.

Madison Delegate "I believe in the principles of the party," Mrs. Ervin Condy, Madison, stated. "I'm working in politics because I believe in it — I have no apologies to polish."

Her family's future was the main concern of Mrs. Eugene Winters, Madison, who said "I have four children and I don't see leaving them with a legacy spent for 'my benefit.' I wouldn't think of charging things at a store and leaving the bill to my children."

The chairman of the convention resolutions committee, Mrs. Gordon Connor, Wausau, said, "I work for the Republicans because they are dedicated to freedom of the individual. I have five children and I want them to have the same freedoms I have had."

Miss Richard Forsberg, Madison, answered "Most women work for churches and charities, but if nobody took an interest in politics, there wouldn't be any churches. When you become interested in politics, you really dedicate yourself," she concluded.

Wincoh Club to Hold Luncheon

Oshkosh — The annual spring luncheon of Wincoh Club will be held at 12:30 p.m. May 19 at Alex's Town house. Mrs. Marie Hoyer will speak on her recent trip to Alaska.

The program also will include accordion selections by Donna Breaker, Winnebago, and community singing. Reservations for the event are due Friday at the county extension office.

Sat-A-Liter TOPS

Neenah — Sat-A-Liter Tops club will hold a guest night May 25. Plans were made at a Monday meeting at the Neenah club. Best weekly losers were Mrs. Ben Matthews and Mrs. Sophie Popp.

Neenah — YWCA Garden club members will tour Whitnall park, Milwaukee, June 3. Y Women's club members have been invited to participate in the tour. Mrs. W. L. Lowe is tour chairman.

Members will attend the "Heritage Walk" in Sheboygan May 23-24. Mrs. Eric Isakson is in charge of reservations. At a Monday afternoon meeting, films were shown on mums and roses. A signed letter was sent to legislators urging the passage of the beautification of highways bill.

Tea committee members were Mrs. S. B. Pinkerton and Mrs. G. M. Lundstrom.

Surface Spray Will Protect Against Moths

Oshkosh — If you want a long-time moth protection, use a surface spray that will reach insects in their hiding places. A space spray, the kind that gives off a fine mist in the air, will give a quick kill of insects, especially in a closed room. The aerosols are this type and will kill flies, mosquitoes, gnats and clothes moths.

In order to get longer protection, you need to cover walls, shelves, corners and crannies with a residue. A surface spray will do the job and is usually an oil-base liquid that is put on with a hand sprayer or paintbrush. Surface sprays usually use DDT or chlordane solvents in an oil base. A fine, barely visible residue will give good protection.

Optimists to Elect At Menasha Meeting

Neenah — Optimists club members will elect officers at their meeting at 6:30 p.m. today at the Hotel Menasha. Club members have been divided into three groups for the prize sailing program for Twin City youths this summer. Maintenance work and dry land instruction is scheduled for this month and sailing will be on Saturday's, beginning June 6.

Reformed church will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday instead of Wednesday due to the mother-daughter banquet at the church. The program theme is Christian family life in the community and will be conducted by Mrs. Elmer Williams.

Emergency Society Reelects Officers

Neenah — Mrs. H. R. Moore was re-elected president of Neenah-Menasha Emergency society, Inc., Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Morton, 318 Park drive.

Other officers are Mrs. Richard Stafford, first vice president; Mrs. Henry Tollette, second vice president; Mrs. Robert Aik, treasurer; and Mrs. Lee Heroman, secretary.

The society will donate its book cart, projector and all books in its library to the new Theda Clark Memorial hospital auxiliary. This service to the patients will now be under the auspices of the hospital auxiliary.

Mrs. James Keating gave the dental driving report. One clinic was held in Neenah with five children attending with Mrs. David Ryan as driver. Mrs. Stanley Severson and Mrs. Tollette were drivers for the two clinics in Menasha with 11 children attending.

The society will resume its meetings in September with the first business session at the home of Mrs. William Gerbrich.

The St. Mary High School Athletic squads were honored at the annual dinner given by the Athletic association Monday night. Left to right are Coach Ralph McClone, Vic Becker, president of the Athletic association; Ed Hickey, Marquette university basketball coach, the main speaker; and Jim Rueckl, honorary captain of the basketball team.

Competitive Athletics Offer Representation, Hickey Tells

Menasha — That competitive athletics makes it possible for a boy to represent the school, faculty, parents and community was the essence of the talk given by Marquette's Ed Hickey at the St. Mary High school athletic dinner Monday night in the school cafeteria.

Hickey, a gifted speaker, sprinkled his entertaining talk with frequent anecdotes. He told the athletes that youngsters in the community look up to them and know them through this representation.

The basketball "coach of the year," declared that the "interest you have here at St. Mary is evidence of the proper association of athletics in education."

Cites Closeness
He added that there is a closeness between St. Mary and Marquette, that Coach

Ralph McClone of the Zephyrs attends many of the games and the squad contains two St. Mary grads, Jim Kersten and Pat Below, both of whom were present at the dinner.

Hickey said he was happy he came into the Northland, that Marquette is strong in the heart of this area.

The speaker confided that he was a 2-minute man at the game until there were two minutes left when his team was either so far ahead or so far behind by that time that it didn't make any difference.

Hickey defined a coach as a guy who gives your life for his school.

Introduce Players
Football coach Vince Ste Marie introduced his senior players, assistant Coach Jim Overby and frosh mentor Bob Rechner. He presented the most valuable player award to Ed Lotzer.

The senior basketball players and cheerleaders were introduced by McClone who cited the 100 per cent backing of the student body.

32nd Anniversary
The cage mentor introduced jayvee coach Don Metz and Herb Batley, freshman coach, as well as Bill Ciske, baseball coach, and Fred Engel, coach of the tennis team.

The Rev. Richard Shafer, school administrator, said that where ever you go in the state there is a high regard for Menasha St. Mary. He pointed out that Monday was the 32nd anniversary of the couple honored for taking in Marooned St. Mary Team

Menasha — In appreciation for their taking in the busload of St. Mary High school basketball players, fans, priests and coaches during the severe snow storm last March 5 Mr. and Mrs. Harold Steckling, route 2, Menasha, were presented with a special trophy at Monday's athletic dinner.

The bus became marooned on Highway 10 about three or four miles from Menasha while returning from the state Catholic tournament at Green Bay. The players remained at the Stecklings overnight where they were bedded down and fed.

The Rev. Donald Stoebach, St. Mary athletic director, who made the presentation, said the Stecklings refused to accept an offering for their deed and St. Mary wished to thank them publicly. The trophy was inscribed, "Thank You from St. Mary High school."

Steckling, in accepting the award, said it meant much to them and "they were most welcome guests."

Couple Honored
Receive Trophy for Taking In Marooned St. Mary Team

Menasha — Green Bay Premontre will be back on the St. Mary High school football schedule next fall after a lapse of some 10 years, the Rev. Donald Stoebach, St. Mary athletic director, announced at Monday's athletic dinner.

The list of St. Mary football foes was revealed but the dates weren't because not all of the contracts have been returned. However, the Cadets will be the eighth and final foe.

Other opponents are Wisconsin Rapids Assumption, Marshfield Columbus, Stevens Point Pacelli, St. Norbert, Fond du Lac Springs, Little Chute St. John and Marinette Central Catholic.

The Premontre, Assumption, St. Norbert and St. John games will be home affairs. In addition to the Bays, Assumption and Columbus are new to the schedule. The trio replaces Milwaukee Don Bosco, East De Pere and Wausau Newman.

Oshkosh State Nine Tests Lakeland Team
Oshkosh — Oshkosh State college entertains the Lakeland college nine Wednesday afternoon as it bids for its fourth victory in nine starts.

The Titans split a double-header with Whitewater State college last weekend to up their record to 3-5. They have 1-5 in Wisconsin State college conference play. Wednesday's game is a non-league tangle.

The New Manager of the Menasha Macs Baseball team is Ron Gall, former catcher for Sheboygan in the defunct Wisconsin State league.

Neenah Netters Best New London High 7-0

Rockets Record 7th Victory; Vie With Fondy Next

Neenah — Neenah chalked up its seventh straight tennis victory by defeating New London 7-0 here Monday afternoon. It rained after the first set and the matches were completed on the indoor courts.

The Rockets won all of their matches in straight sets and didn't need any more than six games in any of them.

Singles victors were Doug Ankerson over Ted Miller 6-1 6-2, Dale Mrotek over Gene Earl 6-3, 6-4, John Schmerlein over Pete Sweeney 6-2, 6-0, Ollie Hoppe over Ed Blesch 6-0, 6-0 and Ned Read over Dick Mech 6-1, 6-1.

Mrotek and Hoppe won over Miller and Earl 6-2 and Schmerlein and Read 6-2 and 6-0 in 1-set doubles matches.

Bruce Miller won over Burzynski 6-1, 1-0 in the only exhibition match.

The Rockets go after their eighth straight victory Wednesday in a home match against Fond du Lac of the Fox River Valley conference.

The meet will be their first of the year against a FVC foe. Last year the Neenah team posted a 3-2 win over the Cardinals. Both doubles were called off because of darkness.

Neenah winners were Dick Mrotek and Hoppe.

Sokol Loft Cops Win in 1st Spring Pigeon Club Race

Menasha — The Robert Sokol loft of Menasha placed first in the Valley Flying Pigeon club's first spring race from Sparta over the weekend.

The birds were released at 7 a.m. Sunday and the winner arrived at 9:49.57 for a speed of 1,231.99 yards per minute.

The race was held in clear weather with a southwest wind. A total of 266 birds from 22 lofts competed.

The Walter Dombroski loft of Menasha was second in 1,230.36 yards per minute with Fritz Reuter loft third with a time of 1,229.30.

Another race will be held from Sparta next Sunday.

Actual League Play Begins on May 26; Plan Practices

Menasha — Five teams have entered the Menasha Church softball league and plans are underway to get a sixth, Recreation Director Bob Vanevenhoven announced this morning.

Current entries are First Congregational, St. Timothy, Trinity, St. Mary and St. John. Bethel Lutheran of last year's circuit will not field a team this year.

Actual league play will get underway on May 28 but the two rounds of practice games will precede it. Opening non-counting contests include St. Mary versus St. John at Jefferson park May 8; and Congregational versus St. Thomas at Sixth street and Trinity versus the proposed sixth team at Seventh street on May 12.

Other exhibitions include Congregational versus the sixth team at Jefferson May 15 and Trinity versus St. John and St. Timothy versus St. Mary at Sixth and Seventh street on May 19 and St. Timothy versus Trinity at Jefferson May 22.

The league will play five games in each round with the round winners colliding for the grand championship. Trinity Lutheran is the defending titlist.

Rotary Meeting
Menasha — Attorney Charles H. Vette of Neenah will speak to the Menasha Rotary club at its Wednesday noon meeting in Hotel Menasha. His address was prepared as a commemoration of Law Day U.S.A., celebrated May 1.

Wilson, Dave Reiersen and Jack Ankerson. Fondy victors were Ken Wilderman over Dale Mrotek and Gene Heyerdahl over Judd Koehn. Wilderman, a sophomore, is the No. 1 man this year.

Jays Collide With Oshkosh In 9th Match

Face Bleckinger, Ranked 22nd by Net Association

Menasha — Menasha's tennis squad will bump into one of the leading junior players in the country when it travels to Oshkosh for a match Wednesday afternoon.

The youth is "Chuck Bleckinger, who already holds numerous state crowns although he is only a sophomore. He has been ranked 22nd in the nation in the junior boys singles division by the Western Lawn Tennis association.

Bleckinger blanked his foe in two love sets against Fond du Lac Springs in his first high school match. He probably will face the Jays' Jim Stenson.

Coach Ken Hansen has three lettermen from last year's squad. They are Ken Krohn, Karl Schwertfeger and Leon Duchatchek. Mike Bronk is another highly regarded sophomore.

Action Begins in 3-Man 'Classic'

Menasha — The 3-man Classic second season will open tonight at the Mid-Town alleys.

Ten teams will compete in the circuit. The league will bowl under the Petersen point system.

St. Paul Practice

Neenah — The St. Paul team of the Neenah Church Softball league will practice with the Presbyterian nine at 6 p.m. Thursday at the Neenah High school field. Manager Darrell Schultz announced this morning.

Hurler's 2-Hitter
Don Bretthauer stopped Neenah with two hits in hurling the shutout. Both bingles were garnered by pitching foe Doug Wiatrowski, who hurled a 4-hitter himself. Miehle scored a run in the first inning and two in the seventh.

Office Service scored 10 runs in the sixth frame in its one-sided triumph over Neenah Central Shipping at 8.

Slugging Bee, Pitching Dual Feature Marathon Loop Play

Menasha — A slugging bee featured five in the fifth. And a nifty pitching duel featured opening night play in the 11-team Marathon Men's Softball league Monday night at Jefferson park.

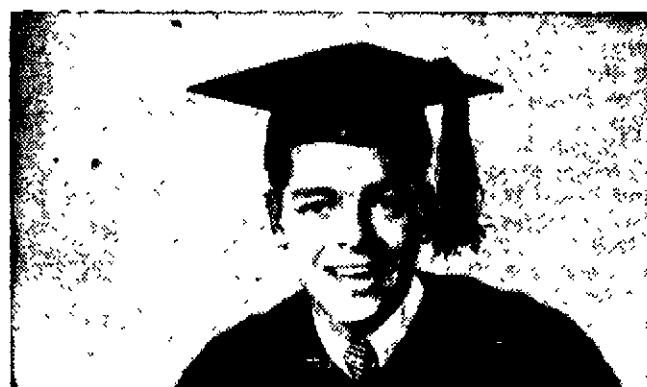

In the hitting party, Office Service batted out a 22-7 win over Neenah General Office while in the closest tangle Carton Miehle was a 3-0 victor over defending champion Research and Development.

The third win went to Industrial Relations, last year's runnerup, by a 14-3 count over Central Shipping.

Hurler's 2-Hitter
Don Bretthauer stopped Neenah with two hits in hurling the shutout. Both bingles were garnered by pitching foe Doug Wiatrowski, who hurled a 4-hitter himself. Miehle scored a run in the first inning and two in the seventh.

Adult Schools Graduate 99 Apprentices

Millwrights Form Largest Group; Electrical Next

Menasha — Diplomas were awarded to 99 at the annual apprenticeship graduation of the Fox Cities schools of vocational and adult education Monday night at the Neenah-Menasha Elks club. Millwrights comprised the largest trade group graduating.

Cost of the courses are shared by the vocational schools of Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Kaukauna and Kimberly, although the training sites were only at the first three. Graduation signifies completion of the required technical instruction and practical training for journeyman status.

The following courses and graduates were taught at the Appleton school:

Automotive—Eugene Maurel, Phillip Burmeister, Donald G. Foth, Lloyd Vandeyacht and Ernest A. Paukstat.

Barber—Roger Braun, Allen Baudhin, Walter Schwartzkoff, William Heinen, David Katzmack, Harland Schuelke and Dominicus Van Berkum.

Carpenter — Milo Lambrecht.

Cosmetology — Nancy Kersten and Janet Bremner.

Electrical—William Tarsila, Sam Lawson, Jules Bogges, David Adrian, Robert Toonen, Donald Woelz, Richard Boree, Ernest Kemps, Eugene Buschler, Robert Lemoine, Don Madaus, Joseph Lenz, Edwin Walker and Gerald Kempen.

Steamfitters—Clifford Stienke, Gordon Nathrop and Melvin Plamann.

Bricklayer — Mason — Jerome Coenen, William Merckel and James Freimuth.

Meat Cutter — Melvin Steffen.

Welder — Ronald Peterson, Painting — Decorating—Robert Zolkowski, Robert Gauthier, Roger Kleman and Earl Breier.

Pipefitters — Richard Bevers, Norman Kranzsch, Eugene F. Stuyvenberg and Ralph G. Gillespie.

Sheetmetal—Lawrence Abba, Paul Casey, Jake Pompa, Thomas Lancour, Ronald D. Bessett, Wesley Ring and Raymond Sanderfoot.

Wireweaver — Percy Tesch, Wendell Longworth, George La Bonte, Larry Kasten and Fred Krueger.

Draftsman — Percy Tesch, Wendell Longworth, George La Bonte, Larry Kasten and Fred Krueger.

Draftsman classes were taught at Neenah, Menasha and Appleton. Graduates are Roy Nagan, Paul Jahnke and Donald Kosbab.

Machinist classes also were taught at Menasha and Appleton. Graduates are Lyle Butts, Bruce Stevens, Carl Van Eppern, Robert Franz, Wenzel Hoefler, Kenneth J. Williams, Leroy Fenske and Robert Puda.

Director Declares

Apprenticeship Program Can Meet Challenge of Today's Space Age

Menasha — The space age has hurled a challenge to education that the apprenticeship program can meet, Clarence L. Greiber, Wisconsin director of vocational and adult education, declared at the 1959 apprenticeship graduation dinner Monday night at the Elks club.

The vocational schools of Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna, Kimberly and Appleton united in the program at which 99 apprentices graduated to journeyman status. About 250 attended the dinner.

Greiber emphasized that skilled workers will be needed to fabricate the developments plotted by the engineers and scientists. He indicated that apprenticeship training prepares the individual to earn a living as to live a life—for the worker learns getting along with others, punctuality, courses were taught at Neenah. Graduates are Neal R. Warner and James Lucas.

Menasha was the site of plumbing and printing classes. Plumber graduates are Paul Van Epern, Allan Merrill, Orvan Schroeder and Joseph Hanegraaf.

The printing graduates are John Nyles, Kenneth Lippold, Paul Quella, John Le Come and Richard Kampfer.

Millwright classes were taught at Neenah, Menasha and Appleton. Graduates are Clifford Siebers, Harlan Gehl, Milan Fischer, Robert Hauke, Richard Ciske, James L. Post, Donald F. Bethke, Vincent Storch, William Jensen, Francis Vandenberg, Richard P. Oudenhoven, James F. Schuh, Henry A. Svetnicka, Allan M. Baerenwald, Gary Mortensen, Armand Otto, Robert Strobel and Val Wojhans.

He emphasized good selection and testing of prospective apprentices is as vital as it is for college entrance to determine if the candidate has the attitude and aptitude, dependability and the satisfaction of doing a job well.

Wisconsin ranks among the leaders in the United States in its vocational program, Greiber maintained. Although it ranks only 14 or 15 in population, it ranks seventh in the number of apprentices, second in the number in machine shop training, third in pattern making and fourth in tool and die.

Started in 1911

Those high ranks date back to 1911 when a committee declared the future welfare rested not on natural resources but on the intelligence and ability of the people. The legislature then established the apprenticeship system, which has become a model throughout the country, and the system of vocational education.

The United States has the highest standard of living in the world, with most of the automobiles, radios, television, telephones, aluminum, tin, copper and steel, even though it has only 7 per cent of the area and 6 per cent of the population. Greiber credited well-trained workers with producing that standard.

The national defense education act of 1958 is aimed at providing additional training for this nation to remain strong in the face of threats. He declared renewed emphasis must be placed on the apprenticeship program.

Prior to World war II Wisconsin had less than 5,000 indentured apprentices. Under the GI bill, the number surged up to 14,000 in 1947-48 but now has dropped back to about 7,000.

Careful Selection

He emphasized good selection and testing of prospective apprentices is as vital as it is for college entrance to determine if the candidate has the attitude and aptitude,

He commended the work of the advisory committees in the Fox Cities, for they apparently have done a better job of selection of candidates than elsewhere in the state. Poor selection of apprentices has resulted in many failures elsewhere.

He advocated upgrading of instruction to place back on work done by hands, "the dignity it deserves and pride in the work accomplished."

Clarence Mitchell, Appleton mayor, in his address of welcome, lauded the cooperative aspects of the program by the five Fox Cities vocational schools to provide a broader program at reduced costs.

Clarence Schultz, Wisconsin-Michigan Power company, was the master of ceremonies and the invocation was given by the Rev. John C. Hanchett, pastor of the Menasha First Congregational church.

2 Fined; One for Speeding, Other for Disregarding Signal

Menasha—John G. Andrew, 19, Page's Point, Menasha, forfeited $10 and costs Monday in Police Justice Arthur J. Ales' court on a speeding charge.

He was arrested at 6:15 p.m. Friday on Racine street between Sixth and Seventh streets, where he was clocked at 42 m.p.h.

Francis E. Scovronski, 18, route 2, Menasha, pleaded guilty Monday and was fined $8 and costs by Ales on a charge of disregarding a policeman's signal. He was arrested Saturday night at Milwaukee and Main streets, where he failed to stop his motorcycle for a policeman assisting pedestrians through the intersection.

Neenah Man Fined $10 For Being Disorderly

Neenah — Robert D. Mathison, 28, 137 Douglas street, was fined $10 and costs Saturday by Police Justice E. P. Arpin after he pleaded guilty of being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested on N. Commercial street at 12:20 a.m. Saturday.

Serve Without Pay

Honor Apprenticeship Advisory Committeemen

Menasha—Individual members of the apprenticeship advisory committees of the Fox Cities with 10 or more years of service were honored at the 1959 apprenticeship graduation dinner Monday night at the Elks club.

Harold Arpin, Madison, supervisor of the apprenticeship division of the Wisconsin State Industrial commission, presented certificates and pointed out the men on the advisory committees serve without pay, without publicity and without credit, but often with criticism. Many have served for many years — up to 20 and 25.

This was the first dinner at which advisory committee members, including both employer and employee representatives, were honored.

Certificates were awarded to:

Barber — Sigmund Skibba and John Deltgen.

Carpenter — Walter Gmeiner and George Hahn.

Meat Cutter — Leonard Jacobs, Elmer Rehbein and Bernard Mohr.

Painting — Decorating — Norman Vander Heiden, Joseph J. Jochman and William Jacobson.

Plumbing — Gene Ditter.

Sheetmetal — Elmer Williams, John Hollenbeck, Rudolph Selwitschka and George Stanke.

Steamfitters — F. H. Jenkins and Eric Fahrerkrug.

Bricklayer - Mason — Edward Schultz and Norman Kohl.

Electrical — Lloyd Jack, H. R. Hollander, Erwin Reimer, Phillip Kaufman and DeWayne Wruck.

Also honored were four members of the former Neenah carpenter committee — John Lauer, Vincent Nichols, Maurice Carey and A. J. Harrison. The committee no longer is active but has been merged with the Fox Cities carpenter committee.

Work by Duncan Arts' Festival

A musical composition by Clyde Duncan, associate professor of piano at the Lawrence conservatory of music, was included in the program list this last weekend at Milton college's festival of the arts.

Duncan's work, for 'cello and piano, is titled "Threnody," a lament composed during the winter of 1952, which was shadowed by the Korean war. It has already been performed in recital in Appleton by Celia Koch, 'cellist.

An earlier Duncan work, a "Sonatina for Clarinet," was warmly received on a previous Milton college concert. Performers for the "Threnody" were Elizabeth Stutz, Madison 'cellist; and Olive Endres, pianist.

Among other performers in the festival of contemporary Wisconsin music are Jay Main, trombone, from the Lawrence class of '50, who now teaches at Milton and Janesville; and Rox Lee, 1-time Fox Valley resident and well-known bassoonist, who now lives in Janesville.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

Words often misused: Do not say, "His talk treated on some interesting subjects." Say, "treated of some interesting subjects."

Often mispronounced: Gazette. Pronounce gaz-eh-tee, principal accent on last syllable.

Synonyms: Fatigued, faint, feeble, exhausted, weak, languid, listless.

Word study: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: titanic; of enormous magnitude, force, or power. "We must all co-operate in our titanic struggle against the forces of evil."

Street Map Required for 'Stop and Go' Traffic Game

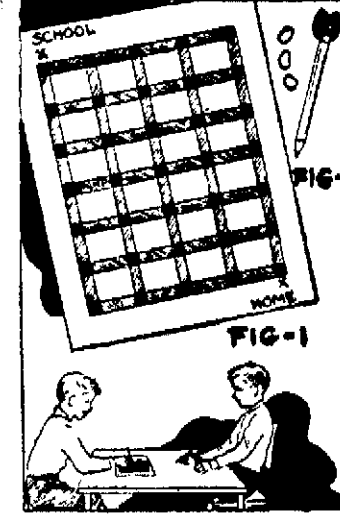

BY CAPPY DICK

"Stop and Go" is fun to play with your friends. The outfit is easy to make. All you need are some pencils, paper, a ruler and a few dry beans.

First make a street map for each player like that in Figure 1. Draw it with pencil and a ruler on a piece of paper eight and a half by 11 inches in size. The wide, shaded lines are sidewalks. The points where they cross are street crossings and danger zones. In the upper left corner is an X marked School. In the lower right is a dot marked home.

One person controls the stop - and go light which is made as shown in Figure 2 by pasting a small disc of red paper on one side of the eraser end of a pencil and a disc of green paper on the other. If the light controller catches side the light controller who turns against the red light, the player the pencil (using the point as a pivot) so that at one in-home and start again, no, stand the green disc is toward the school or how near the school the players and the next in-the beam is. A street can be stant the red is toward them "crossed only when the green.

Each player has one bean light is on which he places on his map. When a player has pushed at the word "Home." He also has bean all the way to school has a pencil with which to he must then push it back push the bean along the side-home, which is harder to do walks on the way to the X than pushing forward. If marked School. When the light caught crossing a street controller says, "Go," the ac-against the red light on this tion begins. The players can-trip he must put his bean not jaywalk their beans, but back at School and start must keep them on the side-again. The first player to get walks and cannot cross the back home wins the game. street when the red light is on.

Seek Loop's Top 1st-Tilt Turn-Out

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Tonight, Fox Cities baseball fans get their first "in action" look at the 1959 Foxes—a team that showed considerable promise despite losing four of six games on a season—beginning road trip.

The Foxes will shoot for Three-I opening day attendance honors for the second straight year when they entertain the Lincoln (Neb.) Chiefs.

Fans who have not bought advance booster buttons will be able to secure them at the park (main gate or "car" gate) tonight. Last year, the Foxes' first-day total of 4,382 paid was tops in the circuit.

Traditional ceremonies get under way at 7:30, with baseball action due to start at 8.

Newest Member

Foxes Manager Jack McKeon said this morning he would start right-hander "Willie" Jones on the pitching mound. Jones, the newest Fox who did not make the road trip to Lincoln and Topeka, will be seeing his initial action.

On their tour, the Foxes beat Lincoln, 1-0, behind Dick Griffith, and 9-4, behind Bert Guenther. Then they ran into a recession and lost, successively, by one run (in 17 innings) by two, by two and by four.

The colorful, new edition of the Foxes, includes, among others, the 1958 "manager of the year" of the Pioneer league (McKeon); the batting champion of the 3-I league ("Potato" Pascual); the "rookie of the year" in the New York—Pennsylvania

UW 'No' May Produce Fast Shuffling Before Decisive Big 10 Parley

Abstention by 1 of the 5 'Negative' Schools Would Save Rose Bowl Pact

Chicago — (AP) — There will have to be some fast shuffling in the next two weeks if the Big Ten is to continue playing in the Rose Bowl football game after the 1960 game.

Wisconsin Monday became the fifth conference member to vote against renewal of the pact. If all five schools which have voted against the game stick by their guns at the conference meeting in Ann Arbor May 20-23, it will mean an end to post-season football for the Big Ten.

However, The Associated Press learned that there is a behind-the-scenes campaign to have one of the five negative schools abstain from casting an official vote at the meeting.

Wait-and-See

If this is achieved, the vote would be 5-4 in favor and the Big Ten would continue participating in the Pasadena classic.

When learning that Wisconsin had joined Minnesota, Ohio State, Illinois and Northwestern in voting against the game, West coast officials took a wait-and-see attitude.

Southern California Athletic Director Jess Hill said: "There's no need of our getting excited about it until they have their conference meeting, where the official vote will be cast. We're just going to stand by and wait for developments."

Wilbur Johns, UCLA athletic director, and Greg Englehard, University of California athletic director, voiced the same sentiment.

Max Colwell, Tournament of Roses manager, said: "Very interesting. It's up to them. If they vote to come in, we'll be pleased to have them. If they don't, I imagine we'll get along as we have for many years. Our agreement is with the Athletic Association of Western Universities. It'll be up to the association to make a deal."

The AAUW, made up of California, UCLA, Southern California and Washington, will replace the Pacific Coast conference which will be dissolved June 30.

The current Rose Bowl contract with the Big Ten expires after the 1960 game.

Big Ten schools in favor of continuing the game are Michigan, Purdue, Michigan State, Iowa and Indiana.

Ben Hogan, who aspires to become the first man in history to win the National Open five times, said today he hoped that playoff victory for the Colonial National invitation was a good omen.

He won his fifth Colonial tournament as he beat Fred Hawkins of El Paso by four strokes Monday. Hogan shot a 1-under par 69, Hawkins 73.

Hogan said he was going to play some more tournament golf before next month's National Open "because that's the only way you can get ready for it." So he expects to enter the Memphis Open three weeks from now.

Hogan beat Hawkins by rolling up a 4-stroke lead in the first seven holes then coming in with just straight golf. The two tied for first place in the Colonial tournament Sunday when they shot 285 for 72 holes.

Ben appeared confident he might win the Open. He said he was putting better than he had in five years.

Centennial City

Professional Baseball Has Been Part of Lincoln's Life 53 Years

BY DON BRYANT

Post-Crescent News Service

Lincoln, Neb.—The capital city of Nebraska currently is in the midst of a giant Centennial celebration commemorating its founding in 1859.

Professional baseball has been a part of Lincoln's life for some 50 years since the game made its debut here in 1886.

There have been ventures in the old Western league, the old Western association, the revived Western league (after 1905), the Nebraska State league and the modern Western league (from 1947 through 1958).

New Affiliation

The 1959 season finds Lincoln embarking on a new trip with the realigned Three-I league along with three other former Western league cities.

Without question, there is apprehension on the part of many fans who wonder about the caliber of Class B baseball after 12 years of watching Class A baseball.

But, for the most part there is a feeling of optimism—a genuine hope that Lincoln can find baseball success along with the other members of the Three-I league.

Much depends on the performance of the Chiefs who will be making their first appearance under Chicago White Sox sponsorship.

Lincoln had a very happy relationship with the Pittsburgh Pirates in the Western league, finishing first two consecutive seasons, third and sixth in four years.

Chicago, through the efforts of Farm Director Glen Miller, is making every effort to give the Chiefs a representative club.

Baseball Veteran

Lincoln has Ira Hutchinson, a baseball veteran and no stranger to Three-I circles, at the helm. He has come up with what should be an interesting team.

Most popular Chief very likely will be Grover "Deason" Jones, fancy hitting first baseman. Fresh out of the service, Jones will be trying to duplicate his .409 batting average, set at Dubuque in 1956 when he won the coveted "Silver Bat."

Familiar faces will grace second base—"Chuck" Lehman—and shortstop Don Bacon—while Jim Lynn will again be in the outfield. This trio helped "Hutch" gain a first half pennant at Davenport last year.

Pitching—always a minor league question mark—re-

Pre-Game Rites Start At 7:30

Mayors and other heads of government of the Fox Cities will participate in the pre-game ceremonies at tonight's Foxes' home opener at Goodland field.

The ceremonies are due to begin at 7:30, according to program chairman Frank Briske. (The gates open at 6:15). Several of the municipal leaders will participate in the "first ball" rites.

The pre-game program is scheduled to start at 7:30. The Appleton city band will provide music, and Len Krueger will lead the singing of the National Anthem.

Welcoming Remarks

Club President Ray McClone will welcome the crowd. The rival managers—Jack McKeon, of the Foxes, and Ira Hutchinson, of the Lincoln Chiefs, will introduce their players individually. Bob Lloyd will be master of ceremonies.

A color guard representing the Catholic War Veterans of Appleton will preside at the flag-raising ceremonies.

League President Hal Toten was scheduled to be on hand, but he called Monday to say he could not make it because of a foot infection. Toten is continuing to work at his Cedar Rapids office but is doing no traveling. He will attempt to make an official visit during the Foxes' second home stand.

The Hottest Bat in the Three-I league last season belonged to the Fox Cities' Carlos "Potato" Pascual and the colorful Cuban third baseman has got the lumber singing again. Pascual, who will be holding down the hot corner when the Foxes open their 1959 home season against Lincoln tonight, is currently hitting at a .348 clip. His .372 won the 1958 batting crown.

Robinson's Title Vacated by NBA

Fullmer-Basilio Bout Winner To be Recognized as Champ

New York — (AP) — The National Boxing association's title-vacating action against "Sugar" Ray Robinson is bound to stir up plenty of activity in the rings and possibly the courts.

Instead of just one middle-weight title fight this year, there may be three—provided by a couple of champions.

Why two champions? Well, there's still "Sugar" Ray, who says he's not retiring. Then there will be the winner of the Carmen Basilio-Gene Fullmer scrap to determine the NBA's successor to Robinson.

The Basilio-Fullmer winner will have to face another leading contender, undoubtedly "Spider" Webb of Chicago, by NBA edict.

The NBA's long-heralded move against "Sugar" Ray was announced Monday by Dr. Ward Wylie, president of the ring body. Dr. Wylie said members of the NBA's executive committee were polled and voted unanimously to strip Robinson of his title.

"Sugar" Ray, hasn't fought since he regained the middle-weight crown from Basilio in Chicago, March 25, 1958.

"Robinson has failed to keep his agreement with the NBA to defend his title," said Dr. Wylie in Mullen's, W.Va.

He said the NBA would recognize the Fullmer-Basilio winner. Syracuse promoter Norm Rothschild said he had signed both of these top contenders and former champions for Syracuse in the summer.

Robinson has been warned several times by the NBA that he was long overdue to risk his title under the 6-months defense rule.

Not a Member

New York, which is not a member of the NBA, has given the dapper Harlem businessman until May 15 to sign for a title fight with Basilio.

Robinson moaned that the NBA has "dealt me a foul blow. They can have their own champion and do what they want about it. But I'm not retiring."

He indicated he still may fight Germany's Gustav Scholz, the European champion, and possibly in Europe. The New York Athletic commission, in taking its action against "Sugar" Ray, ruled Scholz was not a fit opponent at this time. The German is ranked as the No. 4 contender.

If Robinson does fight Scholz, he undoubtedly would have billing as world champion in Europe, at least.

Shortstop Versalles' Mother Dies in Cuba

Upon returning home from the Foxes' road trip Monday night, shortstop Zoilo Versalles received the news that his mother had died in Cuba.

Early this morning, no decision had been made on whether Versalles would fly home, for there was doubt whether he could arrive there in time for the funeral. There was also no word on whether the shortstop would be in the lineup tonight in the event he does not make the trip home.

Los Angeles Jolts Spahn, 5-3, Drops Braves to Third

Dodgers Hit 3 Homers, Foil Southpaw's Bid for 250th Win

Milwaukee — (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers still hold a hex on southpaw Warren Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves.

The rejuvenated Dodgers took up where they left off last year and defeated the Braves, 5-3, Monday night before a crowd of 15,262 at foggy County stadium.

Half Game Behind

The defeat dropped the Braves from first to third place, a half-game behind new leader San Francisco, which beat Cincinnati, and runnerup Los Angeles.

Spahn, the 38-year-old veteran who had trouble with the Dodgers back when the club was a fixture in Brooklyn, allowed only eight hits in a vain bid for the 250th victory of a brilliant National league career.

But three of the hits surrendered by "Spannie" were homers—two by first baseman Gil Hodges and one by young Don Demeter. They accounted for four runs and clinched the verdict.

Revised Lineup

Milwaukee, presenting a revised lineup designed to add more punch, collected 12 hits, including Eddie Mather's ninth homer, but couldn't come through in the clutch to offset the Los Angeles power strokes.

The Tribe, which has lost five of its last eight games, will try again tonight with right-hander Carl Willey (0-1) set to oppose Don Drysdale (2-2), who has defeated the defending champions eight times.

Spahn couldn't cope with the Gopher pitch in losing to the Dodgers for the twenty-sixth time of his career. He has beaten them only 14 times.

14-8 Mark

Los Angeles, which had a 14-8 mark against Milwaukee in 1958, was halted for three innings by Spahn as the Braves took a 2-0 lead in their half of the third on a single by Johnny O'Brien and Mathews' line drive into the right field seats.

The visitors bounced back in the fourth for a run on a double by Hodges and a 2-plunked on the leg in the bagger by Rip Repulski, and then tied the count on Hodges' homer leading off the sixth.

A single by Johnny Podres, a fielder's choice and a long call blast over the fence in left center by Demeter sent Los Angeles ahead in the seventh.

While Hodges hit his second homer leading off the eighth, Joe Adcock's second homer in the year capped the scoring in the Milwaukee eighth as Spahn suffered his third defeat. He has won three.

Johnny Logan, finding the range after a poor start, had three singles in four trips, while O'Brien had 2-for-5. O'Brien apparently has taken over the second base job with the farming of rookie "Chuck" Cottler on 24-hour option to Louisville of the American association.

Brush-back pitches and dusts now are spicing the hot National league pennant scramble that has seen the lead change hands three times in three days.

San Francisco and Cincinnati grappled in one of the double-bladed duels Monday night as the Giants put across four ninth-inning runs, then stood off a rally by the Reds for a 6-5 victory. That hoisted the Giants back into the lead, by a mere .009 over Los Angeles.

Los Angeles closed in by dropping Milwaukee from first to third with a 5-3 victory over the Braves.

Pittsburgh reached .500 for the first time and took fifth place from Chicago by beating the Cubs, 2-1, in the only other NL game scheduled.

Started Early

The dusting started early in Cincinnati. The Giants' Willie Mays hit the dirt getting away from Bob Purkey's inside pitch in the first inning. Then Purkey was double by Hodges and a 2-plunked on the leg in the bagger by Rip Repulski, and then tied the count on Hodges' homer leading off the sixth.

Red Sox Topple Kansas City, 8-4

A's Blow Chance to Take 2nd Alone in Only AL Contest

By the Associated Press

Maybe the question isn't "what's with the New York Yankees?" but "what's with the American league?"

Could be that Yankee Manager Casey Stengel is the answer long ago. At a loss to explain the slump of his world champions, who are seventh, 64 games out of first place after losing nine of their last 10, Casey diagnosed the AL before the symptoms appeared.

Even last winter Stengel warned his champs that the league had become stronger. The standings show the proof of his prodding.

Who's first? The Cleveland Indians, at 13-5. They had to play 27 games last season before they won 13. They finished fourth, nailing that first division berth on the final day of the season.

Baltimore's Orioles and the Chicago White Sox are tied for second, each at 11-8. Fourth? Kansas City. And who's fifth? The long lost Washington Senators, who have the best record (5-2) among the Eastern clubs on their present trek through the West.

That leaves Boston (8-9) sixth, the Yankees (7-12) seventh and Detroit (4-15) last.

Only Game
Kansas City blew a chance to take sole possession of second place Monday, losing, 8-4, to Boston in the only games scheduled in the AL.

The Orioles, no worse than when they started the western trip although they've lost three of five, serve as the final test on Cleveland's home stand against the East tonight. Left-hander Jack Harshman, who hasn't beaten the Indians since he was with the White Sox two years ago, is the Orioles' choice. He has an 0-3 record and will face lefty Don Ferrarese (2-1), a onetime Bird.

The Yankees, 1-5 on the trip, which they opened with a 5-2 victory at Chicago, close the tour at Kansas City. They open a 2-game series tonight with left-hander "Whitey" Ford (2-1) going against the A's Ned Garver (3-1).

Blows Lead
Kansas City blew a first-inning 3-0 lead against the Red Sox. Dick Gernert, 4-for-5, doubled home the tying run and scored Boston's lead run on Sammy White's single in a 2-run sixth. Then Gernert hit a 2-run double in the eight, and Jackie Jensen's fifth homer counted two in the ninth.

Bill Monbouquette (1-0) won it with 6-2-3 innings of 3-hit relief after replacing starter Frank Baumann and getting out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the second.

The Red Sox are at Detroit tonight with rookie Jerry Casale (1-2) pitching against Jim Bunning (0-3). Washington was at Chicago for an afternoon game.

Brennan Might Consider Pro Grid Offer

Terry Says He's Through With College Coaching

Milwaukee — Terry Brennan, former head football coach at Notre Dame, said Monday he's made up his mind to retire from college coaching and he'll stick with the decision.

"I've thought about it a great deal," Brennan told an Association of Coaches luncheon for sports celebrities. "After looking at it over the long haul, I've made my decision to leave college coaching."

Brennan said he has received feelers from colleges around the country. He added he would only be receptive to an offer from a professional team.

"It would have to be on a part-time basis, though," said Brennan.

Brennan, who is 30 years old, was fired from his post at Notre Dame amid a storm of controversy.

Singled Out
Harold "Bud" Foster, retiring basketball coach at Wisconsin, and Dick Wadewitz, coach of the Milwaukee Lincoln High school state champion basketball team, were singled out for special awards.

Foster was lauded for his 25 years as Badger coach and was presented with a plaque. Wadewitz was heralded for bringing the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association basketball crown to Milwaukee for the first time.

Other awards were presented to Vince Lombardi, new coach and general manager of the National Football league Green Bay Packers; Lisle Blackburn, returning as football coach at Marquette university; John Erickson, Foster's successor at Wisconsin; Marquette basketball coach Ed Hickey; "Birdie" Tebbetts, executive vice president of the Milwaukee Braves, and Braves General Manager John McHale.

Wilt Expected To Sign With Philadelphia '5'

Philadelphia — Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain will sign a contract this week to play for the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball association.

Warriors' owner Eddie Gottlieb and the 7-foot plus Chamberlain will meet today or Wednesday.

Chamberlain, former University of Kansas star, said he earned more than $65,000 last year with the Harlem Globetrotters, but he is willing to take a slight cut, if necessary, to play with the Warriors.

They'll Do It Every Time

Trade in Wind?

Everyone Has His Own Idea of What's Wrong With the Yankees

Kansas City — The Yankees aren't the Yankees, and everyone is wondering what has happened to the erstwhile scourge of the American league.

Casey Stengel's New York-ers have lost nine of their last 10 games. They have averaged only two runs a game in their last 11 games. Once they could be counted on to settle an extra-inning contest with one tremendous blast. Now it is their opponent that does the blasting, or punches the champions have been standing still.

Whether that means a sudden change in the Yankee roster is a question. Stengel insists he will not part with any of his players, but George Weiss, the general manager, made an abrupt trip West Sunday, and that could mean action on the trade front.

Not Hitting
"We ain't hitting," said the club's boss today. "They're pitching us low and we go fishing for the ball. Our pitching staff ain't dead. The players have their own ideas."

"The club is tight," says the veteran Enos Slaughter. "We have too many serious guys here."

"We've been playing in a lot of tough luck, and we're not hitting," says Mickey Mantle.

"We need one really big day to get us back on the beam," says reliever Ryne Duren.

Whatever is wrong, it is the same club that won the pennant and world championship last year. In fact, it is the same club that has been holding forth at the Stadium the last two years.

It has been suggested that that is what is wrong. Other clubs have been catching up, particularly in pitching, while league ("Zorro" Versalles), and the most valuable player on the second-place Missouri team, Pioneer league ("Chuck" Weatherpoon).

Good Start
Pascual who won the hitting crown in a walk with a fat, 372 mark last year, is off to a 348 start for the current term.

Versalles has also gotten away to an impressive start. Despite erring in half the six games to date, he has already produced a number of the sensational type of plays that are his specialty around the short field.

At the plate, Versalles is swinging away at a .355 clip—tops on the team.

It took Weatherpoon about three games to get going, but now he has raised his average to .259 and figures to go much higher. No pitcher relishes the sight of Pascual and Weatherpoon coming up to the plate in succession.

First baseman Bob Mason has been the team's hottest slugger to date. He leads in home runs—with two—and in runs batted in—with six. Pascual and Versalles are second in RBIs, with four apiece, and outfielder Don Williams is next with three.

Gopher Pitch and Lack of Timely Hitting Deal Braves a Headache

By Dave O'Hara

Milwaukee — The gopher pitch and a lack of timely hitting are combining to deal the Milwaukee Braves a king-size headache against National league rivals.

The Tribe's talented pitching staff suddenly has started serving up home run balls. And the hitters aren't coming through in the clutch.

South paw ace Warren Spahn's bid for his 250th major league victory was ruined by the gopher ball Monday night as Los Angeles clubbed him for three homers and a 5-3 victory.

The loss was Milwaukee's fifth in the last eight games and dropped the Braves into third place behind San Francisco and the Dodgers.

'Killing Us'
"Those homers are killing us," said Milwaukee Manager Fred Haney. "But we're still getting chances to win and aren't capitalizing on them. We had 12 hits tonight and only scored three runs, didn't we?"

There's no question that the Braves have been hitting as a team. The club is flirting around the .300 mark overall. But too many of the hits are being wasted.

Lombardi Will Revive Bonus Plan

Milwaukee — Vince Lombardi, head coach and general manager of the Green Bay Packers, said Monday he's going to revive the cash bonus system for his National Football league players.

Lombardi added, however, he will first adjust the salaries of his players according to the length of time each man is on the field because "these are the men who must be taken care of."

Bonuses will be paid to the players who recover fumbles, block punts and intercept passes.

Training will begin at St. Norbert college July 25, Lombardi said.

Braves Cut Cottier and Jim Pisoni

Hartman Sent To Louisville as Club Nears Limit

Milwaukee — Second baseman Chuck Cottier and outfielder Jim Pisoni were dropped from the Milwaukee Braves roster Monday, leaving the National league champions one over the 25-player limit.

Cottier was optioned to Louisville of the American association on 24-hour recall and Pisoni was offered to Richmond of the International league.

Sparkled Afield
The 23-year-old Cottier sparked on his play offfield but got only three hits in 24 trips for a dismal .125 average. Pisoni, who was drafted from Richmond, also was unable to find the range at the plate and batted .167 with four hits in 24 appearances.

Earlier the Braves sent left-handed pitcher Bob Hartman of Kenosha to Louisville. He was ineffective in his only appearance with the Braves.

Their departure left "Red" Schoendienst as the only Brave whose status is unsettled. Schoendienst is recovering from tuberculosis but Milwaukee already has infielders Mel Roach and Eddie Haas on the disabled list.

McHale said there is a possibility Schoendienst may be able to be placed in a temporary retired category.

game came on homers. The Giants counted theirs on solo shots by Felipe Alou and Orlando Cepeda. The Reds scored on a two-run homer by Pete Whisenant and a bases-empty blast by Frank Thomas, both off starter Mike McCormick.

The Pirates were shut out on three hits by rookie Bob Anderson before they scored their two in the eighth. Dick Groat's double and singles by pinch-hitter Rocky Nelson and Bob Clemente handed Anderson his first defeat in three decisions. Ron Kline (2-1) won it, giving up but four hits and blanking the Cubs until Jim Marshall unloaded his first home run in the seventh.

Lakeview won the closing event — shuffleboard — in the YMCA Industrial Olympics to gain a tie for the Olympics crown. Marathon and Lakeview each finished with 1,315 points.

Roy Culbertson and Charles Domro brought the shuffleboard title to Lakeview, beating Wire Works in the finals. The Olympics banquet will be held Thursday evening starting at 6:30.

Wisconsin Scores 5-3 Victory Over Western Michigan

Madison — UP — With two out in the sixth inning and two men on base, Marty Stillman came in as a relief pitcher Monday and struck out the final batter as Wisconsin took a 5-3 victory over Western Michigan in a non-conference baseball game.

Southpaw Bill Richards gave up six hits to the Broncos in the first eight innings but departed in the face of a 3-run outburst. The Badgers jumped in from the start on Frank Marik's homer and clinched the opener of the 2-game series with three runs in the fourth inning.

Wisconsin has a 12-8 season record while Western Michigan is 14-3.

Dodgers Knock Braves Out Of 1st Place

Haney tried to get some right-handed strength against the southpaw slants of Podres.

Gil Hodges, part of the old guard right-handed power that made Spahn a seldom-starter against the Dodgers, was 4-for-4 at Milwaukee and all were for extra bases — two doubles and his home runs.

Southpaw Johnny Podres gained a 3-2 season record with Art Fowler's relief in the ninth.

Baseballer, 8, Breaks His Wooden Leg Again

Butte, Mont. — UP — Little Leaguer Bobby Olson recently broke his leg for the ninth

Two Retiring Mailmen, Edward J. Witt, left, and Louis G. Hart, right, were honored at a dinner held by the National Association of Letter Carriers, local 822. In the center is George Weinfurter, president of the local and master of ceremonies for the event at the Odd Fellows hall.

Rural, City Mail Carriers Honored for Service Years

Years of steady service have been honored at a dinner at the Odd Fellows hall as two retiring mail carriers were guests.

The carriers were Edward J. Witt, a city carrier, who has put in 45 years and nine months of service, and Louis G. Hart, a rural carrier, who has recorded 33 years and eight months of service.

Yogi Berra's Mother Dies in St. Louis

St. Louis — UP — Mrs. Pauline Berra, 66, mother of New York Yankee Yogi Berra, died Monday in St. John Hospital. She had been ill for years with diabetes and recently had a second leg amputation. Yogi flew to St. Louis to attend his mother's funeral. He will rejoin the Yanks next weekend.

Viking Golfers Defeat Freshmen

A 4-man Lawrence college varsity golf team defeated a squad of Viking freshmen, 9-3, over the weekend at the Reid Municipal Golf course.

Freshman Bill Leeson was the medalist with an 80 and was the lone freshman to win his match. The next match for the varsity is at St. Norbert Friday. The freshman meet summary:

Jim Aley V (83) beat Chuck Engberg F (94), 3-0.
Bill Leeson F (80) beat Dick Lintvedt V (82), 3-0.
Bob Sharp V (85) beat Don Gilmore F (86), 3-0.

Brice, Carl Hubbell Winton and Ron Teunis will come through.

The Chiefs are an independent, non-profit organization with some 2,500 stockholders. A. Q. Schimmel, Lincoln hotel owner, is president, a post he has held since 1947. Roger Bottorff is general manager.

Sherman field, named in honor of former Lincoln Star sports editor Charles Sherman, is of wooden construction. The lights have been modernized in the last two years and the playing field is in excellent condition. It's 330 down both lines and 385 to deep center field.

Among the famous players who got their start at Lincoln are Tony Lazzeri, Don Gutteridge, Ed Cicotte, Bobby Shantz, Nellie Fox and Dick Stuart, who set the Western League record with 66 home runs in 1956.

Maytag Guarantee

1. Total guarantee on entire washer. The entire Maytag washer — not just the transmission — is fully guaranteed. It is the strongest coverage in the industry.
2. Thirty-year parts availability guarantee. This, too, is by far the strongest guarantee of its kind.
